GERMANY VIOLATED TREATY OBLIGATIONS WITH U. S., SAYS NOTE

American Reply to Note Regarding Sinking of the Frye, Refuses to Accept Germany's Method of Settlement

"AMOUNT OF INDEMNITY ONLY QUESTION OPEN"

Suggests That if Kaiser Wants Further Proof of Facts Charged, Investigation Be Transferred to Washington

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The text of the American note to Germany declining the suggestion that reparation for the sinking of the American sailing ship William P. Frye by the converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich be made through a German prize court and reiterating the representations for indemnity, was made public today by the state department. It already has been presented to the Berlin foreign office by Ambassador Gerard as follows:

"In reply to Your Excellency's note of the fifth instant, which the government of the United States understands admits the liability of the imperial German government for the damages resulting from the sinking of the American sailing vessel Wm. P. Frye by the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich on January 28, last, I have the honor to say, by direction of my government, that while the promptness with which the imperial German government has admitted its liability is highly appreciated, my government feels that it would be inappropriate in the circumstances of this case, and would involve unnecessary delay to adopt the suggestion in your note that the legality of the capture and destruction, the standing of the claimants and the amount of the indemnity should be submitted to a prize court.

VIOLATION OF OBLIGATIONS.

"Unquestionably the destruction of this vessel was a violation of the obligations imposed upon the Imperial German government under existing treaty stipulations between the United States and Prussia. The United States understands by virtue of its treaty rights has presented to the Imperial German government a claim for indemnity on account of resulting damages suffered by American citizens.

"The liability of the imperial German government, and the right of the claimants as American citizens and against it for indemnity, are all questions which lend themselves to diplomatic negotiations between those two governments, and happily the question of liability has already been settled in that way. The status of the claimants and the amount of indemnity are the only questions remaining to be settled, and it is appropriate that they should be dealt with in the same way.

"The government of the United States fully understands that, as stated in your Excellency's note, the German government is liable under the treaty provisions above mentioned for the damages arising from the destruction of the cargo as well as those resulting from that of the vessel. But it will be observed that the claim under discussion does not include any allowance for the destruction of the cargo, and the question of the value of the cargo therefore is not involved in the present discussion. The government of the United States recognizes that the German government will wish to be satisfied as to the ownership of the vessel and the amount of the damages sustained in her destruction.

"These matters are readily ascertainable and if the German government desires any further evidence in addition to the declaration of the claimants on these points, in addition to that furnished by the ship's papers, which are already in the possession of the German government any additional evidence found necessary will be produced.

THOSE AT WASHINGTON.

"In that case, however, inasmuch as any evidence which the German government may wish to have produced is more accessible and can more conveniently be examined in the United States than elsewhere, on account of the presence here of the owners and captain of the William P. Frye and their documentary records, and other possible witnesses, the government of the United States ventures to suggest the advisability of transferring the negotiations for the settlement of these points to the imperial German embassy at Washington.

"In view of the admission of liability and of the treaty stipulations, it has become unnecessary to enter into a discussion of the meaning and effect of the declaration of London, which is given some prominence in your excellency's note of April 5, further than to say, that, as the German government has already been advised, the government of the United States does not regard the declaration of London as in force."

HOKE SMITH WORKS TO SECURE RELEASE OF COTTON CARGOES

Georgia Senator Working in Hearty Co-operation With Wilson and Bryan to Bring Pressure on Britain

GEORGIANS OWN 100,000 BALES NOW BEING HELD

Inman, Akers & Inman, of Atlanta, Among Eleven Georgia Shippers Whose Cargoes Are Tied Up in England

(By Ralph Smith.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Wilson, Secretary of State Bryan and Senator Hoke Smith are working in hearty co-operation in an effort to have released the American cotton now tied up in English ports by the British government. Over 100,000 bales of cotton now held belong to Georgians, of whom the following are now in negotiation with the state department:

Inman, Akers & Inman, Atlanta; Dixie Cotton company, Dublin; L. W. Livingston, Hawkinsville; Espy Cotton company, Bush & Jolley, Inc., Stewart-Morehead company, Walker Armstrong company, all of Savannah; Farmer Garbutt company, Fitzgerald; the Georgia Cotton company, Albany, and the Elberton Cotton company, of Elberton.

CONFERS WITH WILSON.

Senator Smith conferred with the president at length, today concerning the matter, and it may be stated that the efforts to improve the situation will be pressed with continued vigor. The British government will be urged to modify its position with reference to the movement of this cotton.

This cotton is being held in the British ports on the theory that some of it may ultimately reach Germany unless it is detained in England. This is being done notwithstanding that cotton is on the noncontraband list, and these particular shipments to foreign ports principally Rotterdam and Gurtheberg, were made in good faith by American owners.

Senator Smith insists that cotton, having been specifically declared noncontraband under a former declaration that it would not be made contraband, occupied a position where it citizens of the United States contracted to deliver it abroad before March 1, the British government could not refuse to let it sail.

VIGOROUS PROTEST.

The state department has protested vigorously against the attitude of Great Britain in stopping this cotton. The ambassador in Great Britain has advised the state department that Great Britain wishes to pay for the cotton at contract prices.

Senator Smith insists that cotton has advanced in price since the seizure and that the southern shippers are entitled to have their cotton delivered in Europe at the points of destination.

Lawyer Would Serve For Client When Advice Causes Jail Sentence

The unique spectacle of a lawyer begging permission to serve the jail sentence imposed on his client was presented in the superior court Wednesday.

Ed Shatzley, manager of the Kimball hotel, restrained by an injunction from interfering with P. H. Thielan, assistant cashier of the hotel, consulted his attorney, Burton Smith and Mr. Smith advised him to discharge Thielan, which he did. Judge T. P. Pendleton, after listening to a lengthy argument, when Thielan cited Mabry for contempt of court, Wednesday, ended the discussion with these words:

"I have heard enough of this, gentlemen. Mr. Mabry is sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or serve twenty-four hours in the county jail for contempt."

Mr. Smith spoke on his feet immediately. "Mr. Mabry acted under my advice, your honor, and if anyone is to blame, I am. I beg your honor to allow me to serve the jail sentence for him."

"I can't do that," responded Judge Pendleton.

"Well, your honor, I feel that if anyone is in contempt it is myself; won't you let me serve half of his sentence for him?"

"No," returned the court, "I will not relieve Mr. Mabry. You, however, have my permission to go to the jail and serve with him."

"I will certainly do that" answered Mr. Smith.

But the attorney was relieved of the necessity of spending a day in the tower by Mr. Mabry, who pulled a large roll of bills from his pocket and handed $100, the amount of the fine, to the sheriff.

The litigation, which brought about the interesting situation in Judge Pendleton's court, grew out of last Friday, when Mr. Mabry gave Mr. Thielan notice that he was discharged from the position of assistant cashier of the hotel. Mr. Thielan went immediately to the court, claiming that Mabry is without authority to discharge him. On this allegation, which is denied by the defendant, he obtained a temporary order restraining Mabry from interfering with him in his work. Saturday, he alleges, after the court's order had been signed, Mabry purposefully went to leave the hotel, threatening to kick him out, and then he (Mabry) assumed the duties of assistant cashier.

JAPAN GIVES CHINA 48 HOURS TO YIELD, NEWS FROM TOKIO

Warships Arrive at Ching-Wang-Tao, Presumably to Remove Japanese Legations From Chinese Soil

DECLARATION OF WAR IS EXPECTED IN PEKING

China's Non-Acceptance of Demands Is Believed to Be Sufficient to Cause Immediate Action of Japan

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 5.—"A Japanese ultimatum to China," cables the Tokio correspondent of the Central News, "grants a delay of forty-eight hours."

Cruisers Are Sent for The Japanese Legation

(By Associated Press.)

PEKING, China, May 5.—A Japanese cruiser and four torpedo boat destroyers have arrived at Chin-Wang-Tao, on the Gulf of Liao-Tung, about 150 miles east of Peking, evidently for the purpose of removing from China the members of the Japanese legation.

Consular representatives from all parts of the country announce the departure of Japanese, or their concentration at the Japanese consulates.

There is a substantial opinion in Peking that Japan may take action in regard to the non-acceptance of her demands by China without waiting upon the issuance of an ultimatum.

The Chinese capital is remarkably quiet in the face of what the Peking Gazette calls "the gravest peril in China's modern history." Most of the people of the city are going about their business as usual, apparently with no knowledge of the problem which confronts their country. They might easily be aroused, but the government has taken ever precaution to prevent anti-Japanese demonstrations.

Only the educated classes are kept informed of the progress of negotiations with Japan. Among them the feeling is intense, but there have been no demonstrations, although reports have been received from southern cities that several men and one woman have committed suicide declaring "they did not wish to live to see China subjugated."

After the news was received yesterday of Japan's proposed ultimatum a council was held at the Chung-Nan-Hai palace, the residence of President Yuan Shi-kai. The ministers were divided in opinion. The president was of decisions but did not express his own views.

Some officials express the belief that China will surrender. While others think she will offer all the resistance possible to Japan's demands. The decision will rest with Yuan Shi-Kai.

All Attention of Japan Is Now Focussed on China

(By Associated Press.)

TOKIO, May 5.—Japan has focussed its attention on the Chinese situation which is believed to be full of historic possibilities.

It is reported the foreign office has sent telegrams to all consuls in China instructing them to prepare their emotionals for possible departure. Japanese at Mukden have been asked to hold themselves in readiness to withdraw to places near the South Manchurian railroad.

Lieutenant General Count Terauchi, governor general of Korea, has held a conference with the general staff of the army.

Newspapers characterize as insulting the insistence of China that Japan's offer to restore Kiao Chou be reduced to writing.

London Newspapers Not Commenting on Situation

LONDON, May 5.—London morning newspapers still refrain from commenting editorially on the Chino-Japanese situation.

The Daily Mail today prints an interview with Mr. Lo, secretary of the Chinese legation concerning the report that Japan would issue an ultimatum to China.

"We have been anticipating that something would happen," Mr. Lo says, "but we did not expect this. We do not think there will be a war between China and Japan, but there may be if the proposed ultimatum is worded in a certain way. In that case it will have a very serious bearing on the European war. China has no desire to go to war."

Japs Are Warned to Be Ready to Leave Hankow

HANKOW, China, May 4.—The Japanese consul general received instructions from Tokio today directing him to order Japanese women and children to be prepared to leave Hankow for Japan by tomorrow's steamer.

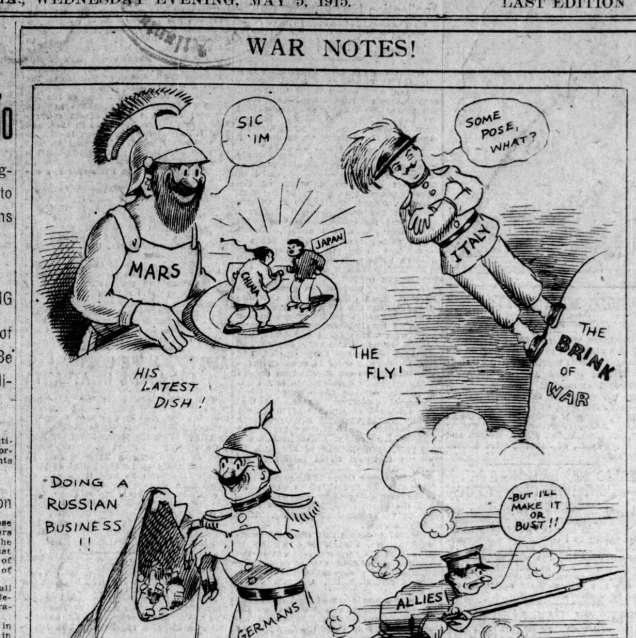
WAR NOTES!



UNDERWOOD SAYS WAR WILL LAST TWO YEARS

Son of Alabama Senator Home from Paris, Talks Interestingly of Situation

Oscar W. Underwood, Jr., son of the junior senator from Alabama, was in the city Wednesday on personal business.

Mr. Underwood recently returned from Paris, where he has been nearly two years, and speaks with first-hand information of the war and its effect there.

"It is my opinion," he stated, when seen at the Winecoff, "that the war will continue for at least two years longer, because both Germany and France have lost so many soldiers they will be careful in the future and conserve their men. For this reason I do not believe there will be any more large pitched battles, as neither side can afford the human cost. The question, then, will be which nation can last the longest without giving in to the other, and this will not be answered for some months."

Mr. Underwood said that when he left Paris the capital was serious and full of sorrow, as probably 30 per cent of the families have lost one or more, some all, of their male members. He expressed a belief, however, that the war would prove of inestimable benefit to the south, as it will awaken her to the foolishness of exclusive cotton acreage at the expense of profitable food products.

He also stated that he did not think there would be an influx of immigration to the United States as many persons imagine, "because," he says, "male labor will be at a premium, as so many of the men have been killed, and patriotism, if not governmental legislation, will keep them in their countries to help rebuild the devasted territory."

Asa Candler Began Life Here 30 Years Ago With Only $1.75

Asa G. Candler, probably the richest man in the south, came to Atlanta more than thirty years ago with $1.75 in the pockets of his home-made clothes.

This fact, among other interesting facts of his early life, was related by Mr. Candler himself in the course of a recent address to the members of the Atlanta Medical college branch of the Young Men's Christian association.

Mr. Candler said he and two other Atlanta citizens are, so far as he knows, the only living charter members of the central Young Men's Christian association.

"More than thirty years ago I came to Atlanta from Carroll county," said Mr. Candler. "I wore home-made clothes and I had $1.75 in my pocket. Atlanta today is undoubtedly a better city morally than it was then, considering the great increase in population."

GWINNETT WOMAN IS HELD FOR MOONSHINING

Mrs. Gordie Maddox, who lives in Gwinnett county near Duluth, on Wednesday waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over by U. S. Commissioner W. Cobquitt Carter in $200 bond on a charge of moonshining.

She was brought to Atlanta on charges of revenue officers that they found 25 gallons of liquor in a cellar arrangement under the floor of Mrs. Maddox's house, the cellar being reached through a trap door.

MANDATE IN FRANK CASE DUE HERE IN FEW DAYS

Action of Supreme Court May Put the Case Up to Governor Slaton

With the handing down Wednesday by the United States supreme court of the decision in the Frank case, it became quite likely that Frank's petition for executive clemency—a commutation of the sentence to one of life imprisonment—would be passed upon by Governor Slaton before he goes out of office about the middle of June.

The mandate of the supreme court is expected to reach O. C. Fuller, the clerk of the federal district court in Atlanta, on Thursday or Friday by the latest. He will take it to Judge W. T. Newman, of that court, who will make it the mandate of the district court, immediately after which Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey will be notified and the state's counsels will be at liberty to resentence Frank, which will be done by Judge Leon H. Hill upon an application of habeas corpus by the solicitor.

As soon as Frank is resentenced the state prison commission, before which his application for executive clemency is pending, will take cognizance of the application and set a date for a hearing. It is expected that the resentencing of Frank will occur either on Saturday or Monday.

SPECIAL SESSION LIKELY.

The May term of the prison commission will end on Saturday and unless a special session is held to consider the Frank application it will go over to the June term, which begins on Monday, June 7, and continues for a week.

However, because of the unusually lengthy record in the Frank case and the fact that it is expected that two or three days may be required for the hearing, as well as because of the further fact that the June calendar of the commission promises to be a heavy one, it is more than probable that the commission will hold a special called session to consider the Frank application.

In the event a special session is called the application will, in all likelihood, reach Governor Slaton. On the other hand should the application not be completed during the June session it is hardly probable that Governor Slaton will have sufficient time to go through the record before his term as governor expires. In such an event it may become necessary for him to grant Frank a respite so as to give Judge Nat E. Harris, the new governor, time to pass upon his application for a communtation.

The handing down of the supreme court's mandate Wednesday was a surprise. It had been expected that the usual thirty days would elapse between the court's decision and the handing down of the mandate. Had this been done it would not have come down until about May 30.

Washington dispatches state that the rule was varied on motion of Frank's counsel.

Commenting upon this development Wednesday afternoon Attorney Luther Z. Rosser, of Frank's counsel, said:

"We have just been notified of the step taken in the supreme court. Mr. Louis Marshall has had and has full control of the case in the supreme court. Frank's local counsel were not advised that the reported step was to be taken, but we understand that it was simply to inform the court that counsel for Frank had no intention to apply for a rehearing or to take any other step that might occasion delay, and that so far as they were concerned there had been no objection to the mandate issuing at once.

"Those representing Frank's application before the prison commission and the governor have no desire to hasten or retard the hearing before either the prison commission or the governor. They wish and expect the application to take the usual and ordinary course."

BOUBT NOW EXISTS AS TO ASSAILANT OF GULFLIGHT

Steamer Was Torpedoed While Flying American Flag, Without Warning

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The American steamer Gulflight was flying "a large American ensign" and was "torpedoed without warning" by a submarine, whose nationality has not been established, according to a cabled statement received by Secretary Bryan today signed by Chief Officer Smith and Consular Agent Banfield.

Ambassador Page reported that Lieutenant John H. Towers, one of the naval attaches of the American embassy at London, and Naval Constructor Lewis B. McBride would examine the hull of the Gulflight, now in charge of the British admiralty. He also ordered the American consul at Plymouth to take depositions from the officers and crew of the Gulflight.

The statement received by the state department from Chief Officer Smith was cabled originally to the owners of the vessel, the Gulf Refining company, who telegraphed it here today.

It follows:

"1 p. m., Saturday, heavy weather, fifteen miles west of Bishop, flying large American ensign, following British patrol boats to Bishop, was torpedoed without warning. Submarine was seen twenty-five minutes, about four and a half miles ahead. Submerged about five minutes later. Nothing more seen of her. Number of submarine indistinct. Damage on bluff starboard bow in the fact that it is expected that two-thirds deep, dead water line reported extensive. Foreshold full one foot over stokehold plate. Cargo in tanks apparently undamaged."

Death of Gunter Caused by Heart Failure, Due to Shock

(By Associated Press.)

PENZANCE, England, May 5.—At the inquest today into the death of Captain Alfred Gunter, of the American oil tank steamship Gulflight, torpedoed May 1 off the Scilly Islands, the verdict reached was "heart failure accelerated by shock caused by the torpedoing of the ship."

Evidence given at the inquest showed that the Gulflight, was flying a very large American flag at the time she was torpedoed.

BRITISH RETREAT IN WEST; RUSSIANS FLEE IN EAST, SAYS BERLIN

German Official Statement Claims Further Success for Austrians in Galicia and a New Advance in Flanders

TURKS SUFFER SEVERE LOSS AT DARDANELLES

Russians Claim Victory in Carpathians and Caucasus—Nine British Trawlers Sunk by German Submarines

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Further imposing Teutonic successes are announced today by the Berlin war office. The British are retreating in the west, says the statement, and the Russians are retreating in the east.

This report, with the events of the last few days, make it appear that the Teutonic allies have entered into offensive operations on both the eastern and western fronts such as have seldom been undertaken simultaneously since the war began.

A dispatch from Mytilene, via Paris, declares that an entire regiment of Turks was annihilated by the allies' fire on the Dardanelles and 1,000 more prisoners have been taken. The report adds that the bombardment of the forts by the allied fleet has been resumed with vigor.

IN THE EAST.

It is in Galicia that the most important victory is claimed by Berlin. Following the successes of the last few days, the Austro-German attack was extended further east, into the heart of the wooded Carpathian section, where the Russians have been struggling for months to break into Hungary. The German announcement says the three fortified line of the Russians was pierced and that they were defeated along the entire front.

France and Belgium several German attacks are reported by Berlin to have been repulsed, although it says that according to this announcement are continuing to retreat in the Ypres district and that they have claim capture of four new positions.

The official French statement dismisses the situation in Belgium with the statement that an attack on the British was repulsed.

SUBMARINE WAR.

A German submarine has sunk nine more British trawlers, and it is feared other vessels were lost in the raid. The Germans are said to have used no decks on fishing ships with rifles and artillery.

The correspondent of a Berlin newspaper telegraphs that the Austro-German victory in western Galicia broke open the Russian front for a distance of twenty-four miles. He says the Russians abandoned not only their first line, but villages in the rear. The Russian war office admits the Germans and Austrians succeeded in crossing the Dunajec, but says they have prevented from making a further advance.

Desperate fighting is in progress further south in the Carpathians, and in the region of Stry, it is said one hill changed hands three times in a single battle, and that 1,200 more Austrians were captured by the Russians.

Unofficial reports from Belgrade say two Turkish aeroplanes, which attacked the allied fleet at the Dardanelles, were brought down by warships. Seven aeroplanes, manned by Germans, attacked the fleet with bombs, but it is said no damage was done.

Relations between Turkey and Bulgaria are reported to have become more uncertain. Turkey is sending troops hastily to the neighborhood of Adrianople, after having withdrawn them for use on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Austria's reply to Italy's minimum demands is expected tomorrow, and it is believed in Rome its character will determine Italy's course. Notwithstanding the king's decision to remain away from the patriotic celebration in connection with the Garibaldi memorial today, it is believed in Rome that there has been no essential modification of the situation.

British Retreat in East, Russians in West, Claim

POOLE NAMED AS A JUDGE OF MACHINERY AT FRISCO

City Mechanical Engineer One of Seven to Pass on Exhibits at Fair

Cecil P. Poole, city mechanical engineer, has been selected as one of seven engineers representing the country at large to judge the exhibits in the machinery department of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco.

The country was divided into seven general sections and one judge was selected from each section. Mr. Poole will represent the section, comprising the southern states.

These seven judges will pass upon all the mechanical, electrical and various other exhibits contained in the machinery department, which is one of the biggest features of the great exposition.

Mr. Poole is preparing to leave for San Francisco Wednesday night, having obtained leave of absence from the smoke board.

Mr. Poole was elected to the office of smoke inspector two and a half years ago. In this office he has had general charge of the enforcement of the city smoke ordinance, and in addition has made a daily test of the candle power and heat value of the gas supplied Atlanta consumers by the Atlanta Gas Light company, as well as testing all gas meters complained of by the users.

Under Mr. Poole's direction the smoke department developed almost immediately after his election into a department of mechanical and combustion engineering, with the result that the title of "smoke department" did not adequately indicate the extent and nature of the work it was doing.

Accordingly city council enlarged the scope and duties of the smoke department by making it the department of mechanical engineering, and placed upon Mr. Poole the duty of testing all fuels and lubricants purchased by the city. These include coal for the city waterworks system and school department, as well as all other departments, gasoline for the city's automobiles and lubricants for the automobiles and the machinery in the waterworks and other departments. Fuel and lubricants cost the city in the neighborhood of $100,000 per year.

Council in the same ordinance changed the title of smoke inspector to city mechanical engineer, and in addition to the new duties above mentioned, placed him in general supervision over all boiler and elevator installations in the city.

Mr. Poole is a full member of the American society of Mechanical Engineers, which is the most exclusive mechanical society in this country, and a fellow of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the term "fellow" in this organization being used to designate the highest grade of membership. He has served, in both organizations, on the boards for examining applicants for membership.

WANTS CAPITAL DRIVE OPENED UP AND PAVED

Application Made Before County Commissioners by S. C. Stovall

Urging the use of condemnation proceedings if necessary, General Clifford Anderson, as attorney for S. C. Stovall, appeared before the Fulton county commissioners Wednesday and asked that the Capital City club drive, leading from Peachtree road to a point directly in front of the Brookhaven Capital City Country club, be opened up and paved.

General Anderson stated that the only impediment to the drive going straight through to the club was a strip of land five feet wide running back of the Brookhaven estates, south of the club property, owned by Charles P. Glover. To open the road, General Anderson asked that the commissioners condemn this strip and said that Mr. Stovall would pay for condemnation proceedings. The road in question runs through property owned by Mr. Stovall until it gets to the strip back of the Brookhaven estates.

Mr. Glover, who was present at the meeting, when questioned by Commissioner Mills, stated that he did not want the road opened because of the fact that the Brookhaven estates company with which he is connected, had certain restrictions as to buyers and the kind of homes to be erected, and that he did not want to open up property adjacent to the Brookhaven estates which might be developed in any fashion, thus injuring the estates.

General Anderson pointed out that this road, all of which was in Fulton county, would open up a shorter way from Peachtree road to the country club than by the present Brookhaven drive, and said, as a member of the club, he thought it would be of benefit to the club.

Commissioner Oscar Mills moved that the matter be submitted to the public works committee with the provision that the other commissioners be present at the committee meeting. This motion carried.

General Anderson said after the meeting that Mr. Stovall was willing to place upon his property adjacent to the Brookhaven estates the same restrictions as are observed in the estates, thus overcoming Mr. Glover's objections.

The five-foot strip of land owned by Mr. Glover extends entirely across the southern front of the Brookhaven estates property south of the Capital City Country club.

THREE BIG CONVENTIONS ARE SOUGHT FOR ATLANTA

Rotary Clubs, Elks and American Medical Association Meetings Wanted

Three of the country's biggest conventions are eagerly sought by the Atlanta convention bureau, it was brought out Tuesday night at the banquet to Jack Leiton at the Hotel Winecoff. They are the international convention of Rotary clubs, the national convention of Elks and the national convention of the American Medical association.

Albert S. Adams, president of the Atlanta Rotary club, told those at the banquet that the international convention meets in San Francisco in 1916, and that it is generally conceded it will go to Cincinnati in 1917; but that he was sure an invitation from Atlanta for the 1918 meeting would be accepted and he intends to go to San Francisco and extend it.

Ivan E. Allen and Walter F. Andrews, speaking in regard to the Elks' convention, said that Boston and Baltimore are both striving to get the 1916 convention but that the Elks had never visited the south and he believed they would come to Atlanta, bringing 50,000 Elks to this city.

Dr. Floyd McRae said the Atlanta Hotel Men's association already had pledged $2,000 toward the $10,000 needed to bring the medical convention here, and that if the remainder were forthcoming he was ready to go to San Francisco and invite the association to meet here in 1916. He said it would bring 5,000 people to Atlanta.

AMATO'S WIFE LOST DIAMONDS IN ATLANTA

The police are searching Atlanta's pawn shops for a heart-shaped diamond brooch worth $200 lost by Mrs. Pasquale Amato, wife of the opera singer, ten minutes before she left Atlanta for New York Sunday. Robert L. Grant, manager of the Georgian Terrace, said he reported the loss to the police at Mrs. Amato's request; he said there was no foundation in fact for the report that the brooch had been stolen from Mrs. Amato's apartments in the Georgian Terrace; he said Mrs. Amato was wearing the brooch on her waist Sunday before she discovered its loss, and that she had no idea where she lost it.

MORE LIGHT THROWN ON BIG PRINTING CONTRACTS

Roosevelt's Attorneys Show Journal Co. Received Commissions on Printing

(By Associated Press.)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 5.—Awards of public printing to the Journal company of Albany, of which William Barnes is chief stockholder, were further inquired into today at the trial of Barnes' $50,000 libel suit against Theodore Roosevelt.

Counsel for Colonel Roosevelt read into the record a digest of the stockholders of the Journal company, compiled from the books furnished by Barnes, showing that Barnes held nearly all the common stock and that members of his family held the majority of the preferred stock and some of the common.

William J. Nusbaum, a certified public accountant of Albany, testified about an examination he made of the books of the Journal company. He said that under the heading "Job printing," entries on the debit side appeared to be the cost of job printing while on the credit side appeared the income. Mr. Bowers, of the colonel's counsel, said he wanted to show that the J. B. Lyon company paid sums of money, apparently commissions, to the Journal.

Charles M. Winchester, of the J. B. Lyon company, then was recalled and said the books of that concern showed there was an account with the Journal company and there were times when "we paid the Journal company commissions or discount" on contracts for state, city and Albany county printing.

"Did you ever pay $5,000 commissions?"

"We may have."

"Did you ever pay commissions of $10,000?"

"I don't remember it."

"But you were making large payments to the Journal company in commissions?"

"Oh yes."

Five Babies Are Born Every Minute

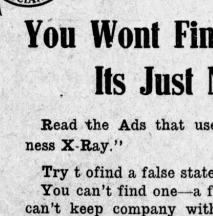
How many live!

Only four! The other little one is lost—lost to his mother after nine months of weary waiting, because he does not get the right food. His mother, with all her love, does not know perhaps that so many babies cannot digest cow's milk easily—does not know how many kinds of sickness, diarrhoea, even consumption, scarlet fever and the foot and mouth disease of last year, are carried in milk from unclean dairies and sick cows. Babies cannot fight all this sickness

Your breast milk is what your baby should have, and when it is not enough give him something so nearly like it, that he won't know the difference. Give him

Nestlé's Food

In Nestlé's the curd of the milk is soft and fleecy as in mother's milk. Made of the milk from clean, healthy cows in sanitary, inspected dairies. All the harmful parts are modified and your baby's special needs are added. Nestlé's comes to you a clean, safe powder, packed in an air-tight can. You add only water.



Send the coupon for the big sample can and you will soon find out why the mothers of three generations have used Nestlé's; why Nestlé's is used in every land in the world and why its use grows with the growth of the "Better Babies" movement.

W. F. EASTBURN, MOBILE, KILLS HIS SON-IN-LAW

Suicide Follows His Shooting of Junius M. Ardoyno—Row Over Business

(By Associated Press.)

MOBILE, Ala., May 5.—William F. Eastburn, manager of the Empire Fish and Oyster company, early this morning slot and killed his son-in-law, Junius M. Ardoyno, aged twenty-two, a linotype operator on a local paper, at the latter's home, then ran several blocks with the smoking revolver in his hand to the home of his sister, and committed suicide on the front lawn in her presence by shooting himself through the head.

The tragedy was the result of business differences between Eastburn, father-in-law, J. B. Ardoyno, father of the dead man and Eastburn, they both being interested in the fish concern. The Ardoyno and Eastburn married sisters. Eastburn went to the Ardoyno home threatening to kill J. B. Ardoyno when the younger man tried to stop him, the shooting resulting.

ALLEN IS BOOSTED BY HOME TOWN PAPER

Dalton Citizen Pays Tribute to Former Resident, Now Living in Atlanta

Editor T. S. Shope, of the Dalton Citizen, one of the livest and ablest young editors in Georgia, in a recent issue of his excellent paper boosts Ivan E. Allen, one of the livest and ablest young citizens in Atlanta and a native of Dalton, for mayor of this city.

Editor Shope calls attention to Mr. Allen's splendid work in the campaign to raise funds for Oglethorpe university, of which campaign he was chairman, to his work as chairman of the campaign to raise funds for the Southeastern fair, and to various other civic enterprises in which he has taken an active part.

The Editor Shope reminds Atlanta that Mr. Allen is a Dalton product who was born in that city in 1877 and left there in his teens with "no capital save the virtues of a well-reared boy and an energy and determination which would yield to no obstacles."

And here Editor Shope says:

"We have been told by Atlanta people who are in a position to know that Mr. Allen is wanted by all factions and all classes as the next mayor of the Gate City. He is deservedly popular with both the classes and the masses, but whether or not he is ambitious to be Atlanta's chief executive we do not know. He has never had anything to do with politics and may never have, but we do know that he would make Atlanta a chief executive second to none, etc."

STAR WITNESS IN ARSON CASE GIVEN FIVE YEARS

Negro Who Testified Against Employer, Acquitted, Enters Plea of Guilty

William Barge, colored, former employe of S. D. and J. E. Warren, proprietors of the Warren Brothers' furniture store on Peters street which was burned down in November, pleaded guilty Wednesday in the superior court to setting the store on fire, and was sentenced to five years on the gang by Judge Ben H. Hill for arson.

Barge was the star witness for the state in the recent trial of S. D. Warren for arson, accusing S. D. and J. E. Warren of "putting him up" to the job. The jury found otherwise, however, and freed S. D. Warren with a "not guilty" verdict returned in less than five minutes.

Judge Hill stated Wednesday that he was familiar with the facts in the case against Barge from hearing the trial of S. D. Warren and that he was convinced that Barge was guilty of arson, but, said the judge, considering that the prisoner had pleaded guilty, he would not give him the full penalty of the law and would impose the comparatively light sentence of five years.

NEWCOMERS WILL SEE ROTARIANS IN MOVIES

Picture of Members Will Be Shown at Celebration Tuesday Night, May 11

A motion picture of the Atlanta Rotary club, showing a "close-up" of each member, will be exhibited Newcomers' night Tuesday, May 11, at the auditorium.

The picture was taken Tuesday at the Rotary luncheon at the Hotel Ansley. It is a thousand feet in length, the first half showing the members marching into the banquet hall and arranging themselves about the table, the last half showing each member. The pictures will be sub-titled so newcomers can tell who they're looking at on the night of the 11th.

The picture will also be taken to Rome next Wednesday when the Atlanta Rotarians are the guests of the Rome Rotarians; it will be sent to San Francisco as a part of the International Rotary exhibit, and will also be exhibited at several local theaters.

The address at Tuesday's luncheon was made by Rotarian Lee Jordan, who dwelt on the duties and advantages of Rotary.

Miss Mary DeLane, of Red Springs, N. C., formerly matron of Shorter college, is the new matron at the home and is said to be a woman eminently fitted for the work.

Rates in the dormitory are from $2.50 to $3 a week, depending upon location and number of girls in a room.

PROF. A. T. PEACOCK SURE OF COUNCIL PLACE

George P. Dickson Quits Race to Succeed C. C. Mason From Tenth Ward

Augustus T. Peacock, of 49 Pearce street, a professor at the Georgia School of Technology, will be elected to council Thursday afternoon without opposition, to succeed Claude C. Mason as the representative of the Tenth ward.

The election of Mr. Peacock to the vacancy was assured Wednesday, when George P. Dickson, formerly of the police commission, announced he would refuse to allow the use of his name as a candidate.

Mr. Dickson reached his decision not to make the race after a long conference with Alderman I. N. Ragsdale, senior members of the Tenth ward delegation.

"I have never been a candidate in the active sense of the word," said Mr. Dickson Wednesday, "and have not personally made a canvass for votes. While I greatly appreciate the interest my friends, especially Alderman J. W. Maddox, have taken in the matter, I do not wish to enter the field at this time after both members of the ward delegation have agreed to support another."

Prof. Peacock has been an instructor at the Georgia Tech for the past five years, a resident of Atlanta for thirty years. He is forty-seven years of age, married, and reputed to be a certain addition to the ranks of the reformers in council.

It is also reported that Mr. Peacock's election will mean another vote for Fire Chief Cummings, when the fire chief is opposed for re-election this fall by Captain W. F. Cody, although Mr. Peacock says he certainly wouldn't pass judgment on a matter of the sort until he is elected.

PROF. A. T. PEACOCK who will be elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C. C. Mason, of the Tenth ward.

BLAMES MOTHER-IN-LAW FOR DOMESTIC TROUBLES

L. H. Andrews Says She Told Him She "Could Kill Him Like a Dog"

Asserting that Mrs. Leola P. Reeves, his mother-in-law, once choked him and exclaimed: "I could kill you like a dog!" Louis H. Andrews, a young drug clerk, added another document to litigation in which he is involved by answering Wednesday the petition for divorce filed by his wife, Mrs. Louis H. Andrews.

This petition, making the third suit for divorce or alimony brought by Mrs. Andrews against Andrews, was filed three weeks ago. The day before the suit was filed, Andrews brought suit against Mrs. Reeves, his mother-in-law, for $50,000 damages, alleging she had broken up his home. Wednesday a hearing for temporary alimony came up before Judge John T. Pendleton, of the superior court.

In the answer filed Wednesday, Andrews alleges that his wife was a girl of sixteen when he married her, a girl easily influenced by her mother. The latter, he say, is a "meddlesome woman, continually stirring up law suits and succeeding in breaking up his home and happiness." He says she constantly quarreled with him, found fault with everything he did and caused trouble between himself and his wife; that she instigated his wife to have him arrested on various charges, refused him admission to his own home by locking the door on him so that once he had to go to a neighbor's; that she used indecent language to him in the presence of his wife; that finally through the influence of his wife against him so that she refused to speak to him. On the morning of June 13, says Andrews, he told his wife to choose between him and her mother and she chose her mother.

Attorney W. S. Couburn represents Louis in the litigation, and Attorney George T. Northen represents his wife.

BROOKHAVEN DRIVE TO BE REPAVED AT EARLY DATE

County Boards of Fulton and DeKalb Will Act Jointly, It Is Understood

That Brookhaven drive, 2,600 feet long, leading from Peachtree road to the Brookhaven Capital City country club, will be repaved within the next few weeks by the Fulton county commissioners, acting in conjunction with the DeKalb county authorities, was understood from the action of the Fulton commissioners Wednesday morning.

Ed H. Inman, president of the Capital City club, and Robert F. Maddox, former president, appeared before the commissioners at their May meeting Wednesday, and asked that the drive be scarified and repaved as soon as possible before the summer club season begins. Seven hundred feet of the drive, in Fulton county, was tendered the commissioners as a public road and was accepted. The rest of the drive is in DeKalb county.

Upon motion of Dr. W. L. Gilbert, the commission referred the matter to the public works committee with power to act, with directions to the committee to confer with the DeKalb authorities as to the paving of the DeKalb strip of the road. Fulton county will lend DeKalb county its scarifier operated by free labor, and arrangements will be made to utilize DeKalb convicts on the stretch outside of Fulton. All three members of the public works committee are understood to be in favor of the paving of the road at once, and the work is expected to begin as soon as possible.

FORTIFICATIONS GUARDS FREE FROM CIVIL SERVICE

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Steps for guarding fortifications under construction with former soldiers, sailors and marines who have served at least two enlistments are embodied in an executive order signed today by President Wilson which waives all civil service requirements for such men in such places.

The war department and the civil service commission recommended the exemption because the watchmen must be "alert, vigorous, courageous, patriotic and of unquestioned loyalty."

BATHING SEASON OPENS AT PIEDMONT MAY 15

Manager Cochran, Who Will Regulate Suits, Says His Views Are "Liberal"

The city park commission Tuesday afternoon decreed that the lake at Piedmont park shall be open to bathers Saturday, May 15, and will remain open during the summer months.

Regulation of bathing suits was left in the hands of Manager J. O. Cochran, who has announced that his views on the bathing suit question are "liberal."

A preliminary move in a fight to secure a municipal golf course within the next few years was made in the park board when Commissioner J. H. Andrews made a motion to instruct the manager to secure estimates of the cost of building a golf course in Moseley park in West End. The motion was adopted, President Ben Lee Crew and other members of the commission heartily indorsing the project.

A majority of the members of the commission expressed the opinion that the price of $5 per month for the Lakewood park concession, now held by J. Billet, is too small in view of the fact that the grounds are to be so greatly improved by the location of the Southeastern fair there. Accordingly the commission voted to give Billet notice that at the expiration of ninety days bids on a new concession lease will be taken.

The park commissioners heard from a delegation of citizens of East Tenth street, headed by Frank O. Spain, who urged the park department to beautify the Tenth street frontage of Piedmont park.

The commission referred the matter to the improvement committee which, after an investigation Wednesday morning, instructed Manager Cochran to begin work at once, ploughing and sowing with grass the land on the Tenth street side of the park.

The board at its session also made agreements for band concerts in the summer at the Grant and Piedmont parks. Beginning next Sunday at 3 o'clock there will be a concert at Grant Park. The next concert will be at Piedmont, and the band will continue to alternate at the two parks during May. During June, July and August the board expects to have a concert each Sunday afternoon at both parks.

INMAN NAMED PRESIDENT OF CAPITAL CITY CLUB

Other Officers and Members of Governing Board Are Elected Tuesday

The annual election of officers of the Capital City club, held Tuesday by a ballot of the members between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 9 o'clock p. m., resulted as follows:

President—Edward H. Inman.

Vice President—James D. Robinson.

Secretary-Treasurer—Edward R. Austin.

Governing Board for Two-Year Term—Ulric S. Atkinson.

Governing Board for Three-Year Term—John S. Cohen, J. Epps Brown, Jack H. Lewis.

The purchase by the Capital City club of Brookhaven, which was authorized and directed by the members at their annual meeting Monday night, has created a wonderful enthusiasm in the club, and the members look forward with glowing anticipation to the remodeling of the Brookhaven club house, the completion of the golf course, and the numerous other improvements which are planned.

It is the intention of the club to proceed at once with remodeling the Brookhaven club house. All the detailed work of the architect, A. Ten Eyck Brown, has been finished and the plans are ready for the contractor. It is estimated that the work can be finished within ninety days from the time it starts. This would place the remodeled club house in readiness for use around the first of August. The remodeling will make the club house one of the best in the country.

Another feature of interest in this connection is the extension of the trolley car line to the club. The Georgia Railway and Power company, in response to requests from the Capital City club and Oglethorpe university, has already indicated a willingness to make the extension from the present terminus to Brookhaven, which is only nine-tenths of a mile, and to run the car line north on Peachtree road to Oglethorpe university.

The club will now make an effort to induce the company to put in the Brookhaven extension in time for the opening of the remodeled country club house.

EXCAVATIONS FOR FAIR TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Southeastern Fair Association Advertises for Bids on Lakewood Work

As shown by the advertisement of the Southeastern Fair association for bids on excavation, dirt will begin to fly early next week on the site of the fair buildings covering six acres on the top of the plateau, southwest of the lake, where three of the main buildings will be located.

These buildings, each about an acre in extent, will be grouped around a court terminating in a peristyle or semi-circular colonade overlooking the lake from the crest of the hill.

For two weeks architects and engineers have been visiting the grounds daily and the engineer has already prepared specifications for the grading, which will amount to about 11,000 yards of dirt.

The committees of architects, of which W. T. Downing and Hal F. Hentz, are chairmen, have been meeting twice a week at the chamber of commerce and have been in daily consultation over the plans. They are competing among themselves over preliminary sketches and on Friday evening the committee of architects will ballot for the purpose of selecting the best sketches.

The sketch selected is to be developed in detail as rapidly as possible and it is hoped that within the next ten days the fair association will be in a position to advertise for bids on the buildings.

The directors of the fair association are meeting several times a week and are pushing with utmost energy the work of organization.

The construction is in the hands of a committee composed of Ivan E. Allen, chairman, Mell R. Wilkinson, V. H. Kriegshaber, W. G. Cooper, W. T. Winn and I. N. Ragsdale.

ITALIANS PAY TRIBUTE TO GARIBALDI'S MEMORY

King Did Not Attend Exercises Because of Continued Negotiations With Austria.

(By Associated Press.)

GENOA, (Via Paris, May 5.)—Every train which arrived in this city yesterday and last night was crowded with prominent persons from all parts of Italy who came here on their way to Quarto San'Elena to attend the dedication of the monument erected in honor of Garibaldi and his famous Thousand, who sailed from the little town in Sardinia on the expedition which resulted in the annexation of Sicily by Italy.

These ceremonies, which it was announced at the eleventh hour King Victor Emmanuel and the members of his cabinet would not attend because they were unable to leave Rome in view of the gravity of the international situation, have been regarded as of peculiar political significance because the proposed participation of the king might be considered a direct affront to Austria at a time when diplomatic relations were strained almost to the breaking point. The abandonment of the king's plans is considered, however, to mean that the negotiations between Italy and the dual monarchy are to be continued on a new basis.

Those who were present include Senators' deputies, representatives of various cities and towns in all parts of the kingdom, Garibaldian veterans and delegates from Italian universities. The president of the chamber and a delegation from the senate arrived last evening and were received by the perfect.

Gabriele d'Annunzio, the poet, who delivered the principal address, was met by General Ricciotti Garibaldi and Mme. Garibaldi, the Sculptor Baroni, designer of the monument, the mayor and many deputies. The poet was wildly cheered by crowds in the streets through which he passed to reach his hotel.

Italian Cabinet Will Meet Wednesday Afternoon

(By Associated Press.)

ROME (Via Paris), May 5.—The meeting of the cabinet which was to have been held yesterday has been postponed until this afternoon. A semi-official note says the ministers will consider the question of resuming parliamentary work.

The excitement caused by the abandonment by King Victor Emmanuel and the ministers of their proposed trip to Quarto Sant' Elena has subsided in parliamentary circles, where it is believed there has been no essential modification of the situation. Since Monday's sensational rumors have given place to more moderate reports, according to which conversations between Italy and Austria are being continued.

Foreign Minister Sonnino received calls yesterday afternoon from the British and French ambassadors and the secretary of the Russian embassy. Count Golutchowski, who is being sent to Rome on a special mission by the Austrian government, is expected here tomorrow. He will be received by the king and Baron Sonnino. He is supposed to be bringing the answer of Austria to the personal request of Italy made through Prince Von Buelow that Austria make a clear statement of its intentions. If this answer is considered unsatisfactory it is believed the Salandra ministry will take the position that it has availed itself without result of every possible means of averting war.

FAREWELL BANQUET IS TENDERED JACK LETTON

Many Tributes Paid Popular Hotel Man Who Leaves Soon for Colorado

Many tributes and tokens of friendship were tendered Jack Letton at the farewell banquet given in his honor at the Winecoff Tuesday night by the Atlanta convention bureau and the Atlanta Hotel Men's association.

Mr. Letton was a director in the convention bureau and president of the hotel men's association. He leaves Atlanta shortly for Colorado, bearing with him the best wishes of hundreds of his friends in Atlanta.

Many of these were present Tuesday night and spoke briefly but in glowing terms of Mr. Letton, his winning personality, his generosity and courage, his earnest and unceasing efforts to better Atlanta and her interest. Among those who spoke were Fred J. Paxon, Lee Jordan, Albert S. Adams, Fred Houser and Mell R. Wilkinson. Ivan E. Allen acted as toastmaster.

The Atlanta Rotary club presented Mr. Letton with a solid gold Rotary cuff, enameled with the Rotary wheel and handsomely engraved. He was also presented with framed resolutions from the convention bureau; a silver pitcher, appropriately engraved, from the hotel men's association; autographed book of poems from Charles W. Hubner; and other tokens of friendship and esteem.

Following the banquet the convention bureau elected J. R. Hickey, of the Piedmont, president of the board of directors to succeed Mr. Letton. A. S. Adams a new member of the executive committee, and P. C. Steel and T. R. Gentry new members of the board of directors.

PIANO MAN BOUND OVER UNDER "BLUE SKY" LAW

H. A. Manning Accused of Selling Stock Which Had Not Been Registered

Charged with violating the "blue sky" law by selling stock which had not been registered with the secretary of state, H. A. Manning, of the Manning Piano company in the Chamber of Commerce building, was bound over Tuesday by Judge J. B. Ridley, of the municipal court, under $500 bond.

This is said to be the first case under the new law. Attorneys John F. Hanson and A. L. Henson, representing the prosecution, asked that another warrant against Miss B. M. Higgins, a stenographer for the Manning Piano company, be dismissed, as she had no official connection with the company except as stenographer. The warrant was dismissed.

Advises Lime for Tuberculosis

According to the Journal of the American Medical Association (July 27, 1912, Page 368), Dr. C. F. Dietz, of Minneapolis, holds that a "deficiency of calcium" (lime) is responsible for the physical conditions which lead to tuberculosis, "and the therapy he advocates rests on this basis."

One of the reasons for the widespread success of Eckman's Alterative in the treatment of tuberculosis and chronic throat and bronchial troubles is its ability to supply this deficiency.

It contains a lime salt in such form and so combined with other remedial agents as to be easily assimilated by the average person. There are on record many cases in which it seems to have effected complete and lasting betterment.

However, we make no exaggerated claims for Eckman's Alterative. We prefer that it be tried on the sane basis on trial and other prescription, and we believe it will help, for IT HAS HELPED in many cases.

It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. Therefore, it is safe to use. If your druggist is out of it, he will order, or you can get it direct.

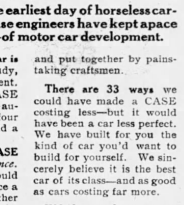
THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

"In 1871 the Case Company aided in building this steam buggy."
—J. W. Carhart.



Original Steam Buggy. From a picture in the Wisconsin State Historical Library

Notice the difference between this steam buggy and the present-day CASE Car. This contrast pictures better than anything else the progress of the Case Company during the past forty-four years.

Since the earliest day of horseless carriages, the Case engineers have kept apace—often ahead—of motor car development.

The present CASE car is the result of years of study, of years of development. The picture of the CASE Car may look like other automobiles—it, too, has four wheels and a hood and a body.

But it is built in the CASE way. There's the difference. The CASE Company could never consent to produce a car less reliable than its other products. For 72 years the CASE name has been an honored one because the Company has kept faith with men. Our motives may be selfish in thus making worthy products. But we are determined to make CASE Cars worthy of the name they bear.

This justifies our statement—always proved to those interested—that the CASE Car abounds in "Hidden Values."

In looking at the CASE you would merely see it's style, its finish, its roominess. In driving it—you merely "feel" its power, control and comfort.

But when you come to go into construction details—when you commence to compare it—detail by detail—then you commence to realize its Hidden Values. When you have driven it for several years—when you look back at the lack of repair bills and the low operating costs—then you know it is honestly built. You realize that only superior materials have been used, made and put together by painstaking craftsmen.

There are 33 ways we could have made a CASE costing less—but it would have been a car less perfect. We have built for you the kind of car you'd want to build for yourself. We sincerely believe it is the best car of its class—and as good as cars costing far more.

While we have never "skimped" on the car to reduce its price—there are two ways we save where others must spend:

1. This car is built in the immense CASE plant, backed by CASE engineers. We lost no time or money in establishing our motor car department.

2. The CASE Car is sold by our established sales organization—world-wide. We thus save the usual heavy selling expense.

What we save in these two items goes right back into the car. Otherwise it never could be priced so low.

The Sign of Mechanical Excellence the World Over

Its price, remember, includes as regular equipment an Extra Tire, Extra Inner Tube on Rim with Cover, Weed Non-Skid Tire Chains and 8-Day Clock. This wonderful CASE Car—and its extra equipment—for $1350, 5 per cent discount if cash!

Will you come in today to see this car? We are always glad to show it, without obligating you.

Never mind. Petrograd will retort with a report of victory.

It is a fact, however, that dead politicians will tell tales—in the form of carefully filed correspondence.

The Business Side of Farming

Here is an old but very valuable piece of advice, turned to timely account by the Savannah News:

"It is most important that farmers keep books. Especially is it important at this time when, if they are wise, they are turning away from the all-cotton plan and giving up their acreage to a diversity of crops of which cotton of course is one. They do not realize how valuable a correct and detailed set of farm books would be to them. As everybody knows who keeps books the habit of putting down all items of income and outgo promotes thrift. An annual inventory of farm property, house, barn, implements, stock, unsold crops, feed on hand and the like, tends to make the owners of the property take better care of their machinery and implements, for example, putting them away carefully and oiling them for the seasons when they are not in use. It tends to make him improve the appearance of his property, and appearance goes a long way towards improving the salability and hence the value of any property."

The last ten years have witnessed wonderful progress in the science of farming; the next ten years will witness a marked advance in the business of farming. The profits of agriculture depend no less on management and marketing than on cultivation and harvesting. Without a fairly broad and accurate system of bookkeeping, a farmer cannot tell where he stands or in what direction he is moving; he cannot detect the leaks in his business or make the most of his opportunities. A merchant or manufacturer who pursued such a method, or rather lack of method, would soon be bankrupt; and the farmer is in a sense both a merchant and manufacturer.

The News interestingly observes in this regard that the work of the Boys' Corn Clubs and the Girls' Canning Clubs is doing much to place agricultural affairs on a more businesslike basis; for, the club members who contest for prizes "must make a report in detail of how they accomplish their good results; they tell how they prepared the soil, what varieties of seed they plant, what kinds of fertilizer and how much they use, what methods of cultivation they follow, how they prepare their product for the market, what its production and preparation cost, and how much profit they make."

The habits of business system which these requirements instill into farm boys and girls are worth as much to agricultural interests as the increased output and value of crops. It should be noted, moreover, the State College of Agriculture and the district agricultural schools stress the importance of business methods in farming, so that within the next ten years far-reaching improvement in this respect will be brought to pass.

Politicians should avoid the gentle art of letter-writing.

Carranza predicts an early end of his war, but in Europe the prophets are keeping quiet.

Colonel Roosevelt insists that he has no malice against Barnes, probably arguing that Barnes would be complimented by being called boss of New York.

Latin American Steamers

The announcement that a new steamship line, financed by the business interests of Buenos Aires, has been inaugurated between that port and New York is a cheering omen for the future trade relations of the United States and Latin America. When our southern neighbors go so far as to launch such an enterprise with resources of their own, they are unmistakably in earnest; they want to trade with us and they themselves are providing facilities for doing so.

Far-sighted business men in the United States are no less interested. Several corporations have recently been organized to establish steamship lines between Atlantic or Gulf ports and South America. Southern cities should be particularly concerned in this matter. Some months ago it was proposed at a meeting of Georgia manufacturers in Atlanta that a new line of trade vessels to ply between Savannah and Latin-American markets be undertaken. The idea is excellent, and ought to be carried out.

It is not only the high cost of war, but the steady cost of war.

Maybe, if Mexico becomes peaceful, as Carranza claims it will soon, the action will become contagious.

The misfortune about the libel suit is that the country in the meanwhile can't be told by the colonel how it should be run.

Terms of Peace

There has been a great deal of speculation as to the indemnities, territorial and other kind, which the Allies will exact of Germany if they are victors—Alsace and Lorraine to France, a strip west of the Rhine to Belgium and east of the Vistula to Russia, German East Africa and other colonies to Great Britain, Kiao-Chau to Japan, and enormous compensations in money, the idea seeming to be that extreme measures will be taken to crush all hope of recovery in the conquered people.

More thoughtful observers, however, both in this country and abroad, expect no such policy. The New York Sun, for example, is sure "that the statesmen at the conference table would avoid the mistake which Bismarck, spurred on by Von Moltke and the military party, made after the war with France in 1871, when he demanded a huge indemnity and insisted upon the cession of Metz." Asquith and Sir Edward Grey, we are reminded, are not vindictive men but "are eminently, practical cool-headed, far-seeing" and are also men of humane and liberal instincts: "they know that England would have to live with Germany after the war, not according to the gospel of hate, but in conformity to the imperative need for rehabilitation and enlightened progress."

Equally interesting is the opinion of Professor J. Holland Rose who declares in the Fortnightly Review that the policy of the Allies, in the event they win, will not be to enforce harsh terms of settlement but to restore the world to stable and permanent conditions of peace. He applies in this connection the historic words of Pitt, written in the spring of 1799 during the war with France:

> "Our simple object is security, just security, with a little mixture of indenification. These are the legitimate objects of war at all times, and when we have attained that end we are in a condition to derive from peace its beneficent advantages; but until then our duty and our interest require that we should persevere unappalled in the struggle to which we were provoked. We shall not be satisfied with a false security. War, with all its evils, is better than a peace in which there is nothing to be seen but usurpation and injustice, dwelling with savage delight on the humble, prostrate condition of some timid, supliant people."

That there will be heavy indemnities to pay when this war is over, no one doubts, and probably there will be certain territorial changes. If France is a position to dictate terms, she naturally will demand Alsace and Lorraine; and it seems foregone that Russia, provided the Allies are successful, will take possession, or at least share possession, of Constantinople. Belgium will be requited for her loss and suffering, and perhaps there will be shifts in African and Asiatic colonies. But excessive reprisals, far from assuring peace, would lead almost certainly to another war; and war will be the last thing the bleeding nations of Europe will desire when this terrible struggle is ended.

Prussia tried to crush France with a billion dollar war tax in 1871, but France simply paid—and remembered. The attempt to Germanize Alsace and Lorraine cost the conquerors far more than it brought them. Such errors will scarcely be repeated by the Powers that arrange terms of settlement for the present war. Their object will be security and peace rather than revenge and hard bargains.

Suppose the French did retire from the Dardanelles. Don't the English assure us that the retirement was only temporary?

Extending the R. F. D.

The Postoffice Department announces that by July the first rural mail service will be so extended as to reach a million additional people.

That is a matter of deep import to the country's material and human interests. Mail facilities are essential to the development of rural districts. Farms which are thus put in touch with the thought of the outer world acquire new energy and opportunity. The county that is well provided with rural mail deliveries has immense advantage over counties that lack such service.

It is the policy of the Postoffice Department to extend and perfect this branch of its work as rapidly as conditions warrant. But the people of rural districts must do their part. They must patronize the service and must maintain reasonably good roads.

Italy no doubt is waiting to get further figures on the cost of war.

What the colonel and Barnes have brought forth may be an old story, but it has a decidedly novel sound in open court.

The Journal's Letter Box

(The Journal welcomes short letters on seasonable subjects; but long epistles are a weariness to the flesh. In no circumstances will anonymous communications be published.)

May 4th, 1915.

Editor Journal: The enthusiastic endorsement at the meeting last night, of the Capital City club exercising its option on the Brookhaven Country club by purchasing the country club for $90,000.00, payable in 5 per cent 20-year bonds, is a good thing. It is, in a way, an evidence of the revival of popular opinion as to north side, semi-rural real estate values. We have gone through a period of financial doubt and uncertainty which has caused many to disestimate and fail to appreciate properly the really beautiful north side suburban district, which is such an adornment to our city. Its development has been arrested and many homes, which rightly by reason of the financial stringency, have not been built. Now, however, with the rapid return of good times, I see in the Capital City club setting the seal of its endorsement upon Brookhaven, a quick recovery and a coming-back to normal conditions.

Yours very truly,
JOEL HUNTER.

Your Brain Feeds on Thought

BY F. HADDINGTON BRUCE.

Everybody has marvelled at the brilliant achievements of men of genius, and science has long been trying to account for them. All sorts of theories have been advanced, ranging from the "gift of the gods" hypothesis of the ancient Greeks to the "happy insanity" doctrine of the Lombroso group of modern investigators.

Lately an entirely new and most encouraging theory of genius has come into prominence, as a result of some remarkable educational experiments.

This new theory does not regard the man of genius either as a freak or as a person superlatively endowed by gifts of inheritance.

It insists, on the contrary, that he begins life on much the same footing as the average man. And it insists that the reason he later excels the average man is that he happens to become so profoundly interested in his chosen field of work that he thinks about it incessantly.

Now, even if this theory does not fully account for the man of genius, it expresses a truth which cannot be too firmly kept in mind by every one of us.

The brain, like any other organ, grows with exercise, and there can be no doubt that it is most fully exercised when we are vitally interested in something that makes a real demand on our reasoning powers.

If we are not keenly interested we either close up shop mentally and refuse to think about the matter at all or, if necessity compel us to think about it, we worry and fret and weary ourselves in a discontent that prevents really effective thinking.

Unfortunately this is the attitude that many—perhaps most of us—take toward our own work in life. We are not really interested in it. It bores us. There are so many other things that we prefer to do.

Consequently we fail to exercise our brain as we should, and thus we handicap its development.

Handicapping its development, we need not feel surprised if we fail to make headway in our life work. Nor will it mend matters to bemoan our "luck" and rail against Fate.

The fault is our own. And we have the remedy in our own hands.

To cultivate a genuine interest in whatever we set ourselves to do—an interest so ardent that our minds are kept hard at work—may not of itself be enough to make us men of genius. But it is certain to guarantee us, through increased brain development, a surprising success in life.

The Tavern of the Bees

BY MADISON CAWEIN.

Here's the tavern of the bees,
Here's the butterflies, that swing
Velvet cloaks, and to the breeze
Whisper soft conspiracies,
Pledge their Lord, the Fairy King.
Here the hotspur hornets bring
Fiery word, and drink away
Heat and hurry of the day.

Here the merchant bee, his gold
On his thigh, falls fast asleep,
And the armored beetle bold;
Like an errant-knight of old,
Feasts and tipples pottles-deep.
While the friar cricket keep
Creaking low a drinking-song,
Like an Ave, all day long.

Here the baron bumblebee,
Grumbling in his drowsy cup,
Half forgets his knavery:
Dragon-flies sip swaggeringly.
Cavaliers who stop to sup:
To whose boast come whining up
Gnats, the thieves, that tap the tuns
Of the honeyed musk that runs.

Here the jeweled wasp, that goes
On his swift highwayman way,
Seeks a moment of repose,
Drains his cup of wine-of-rose,
Sheathes his dagger for the day:
And the moth, in downy gray,
Like some lady of the gloom,
Slips into a perfumed room.

Searchlight

MOVIES AT SEA.

Moving picture advertisements, shown upon the great ocean liners, constitute a new method of advertising which seems to promise good results. Large firms are having films made, picturing their places of business and the products handled. The steamship companies, which are continually alert to supply diversion for their passengers to lessen the tedium of the trip, are glad to exhibit these films in the salons.

• • •

Some of these pictures are exceedingly valuable in showing the processes of manufacturing. One of the most complete is provided by an automobile company. It depicts the different processes in the manufacture of every part of the motor, from procuring the wood, rubber, steel and iron, down to the finished product as it is delivered to the customer. The welfare work among the employes is also interestingly portrayed.

• • •

Large department stores have supplied a trip through their different departments, prepared in the form of a play. Several firms are joining together in the production of films which will direct the foreigner as to the best places to stop, and also to shop, upon arrival in a large American city. Arrangements are made by which these films can be shown either in one particular steamer or in all those operated by a certain line.

Quips and Quiddities

Hughie McGriff was exercised last year about his hay crop. The weather, though threatening, favored his efforts till he had succeded in getting it safely gathered in, being in this respect more fortunate than several of his neighbors. After seeing the last wisp of straw around his stacks, he exclaimed, with a self-satisfied air:

"Noo, sin' I hae gotten my hay a' safe in, I think the warld would be greatly the better o' a guid shower."

Visitor—Can I see that motorist who was brought here an hour ago?

Nurse—He hasn't come to his senses yet.

Visitor—Oh, that's all right. I only want to sell him another car.—Judge.

THE ALASKAN OPPORTUNITY

VI.—Social Development.

By Frederic J. Haskin

CONDITIONS in Alaska have made it a home for men of stout hearts. The project of pushing into the frozen north, and of wresting fortune from it, has not appealed to weaklings. Also, it takes money to get to Alaska and to enter into any of the pursuits that are likely to yield profits. So it has happened that only fit men of courage, power and resource have survived in the northland.

• • •

The conditions under which these men have lived have given a peculiar twist to their social life. The miners have been the real developers of Alaska, and these have been scattered throughout its great expanse in small groups. Frozen ground and darkness have, in most camps, made it impossible for them to work through the winter. This long idleness has given an opportunity for drinking and gambling that has, however, played a much more prominent part in fiction than in the real lives of these men. But it has developed some peculiar social contentions.

• • •

There was, for instance, "Liar's Island," in the Klondike region of the Yukon. Seven men were here working a mine until they were frozen in for the winter. They organized a story teller's club. Certain nights were set aside for the telling of these, and the yarns for a given occasion were to be of a general class. One night they would have to do with the sagacity of animals, again with narrow escapes, or the subject might be snakes. The reputation of the seven as story tellers grew to such an extent that neighbors came forty miles over the snow in the dark to hear them. The story telling idea spread and became an institution in many camps.

• • •

Another social institution that grew out of Alaskan conditions is the sport of dog team racing. Throughout Alaska there are local races that are the events of the various communities, but the season culminates with the All-Alaskan sweepstakes race in the spring of each year. This race is to the land of snows what the Grand Prix is to the Paris boulevardier, or the Derby is to the Britisher. The race is for a distance of 412 miles, with Nome as the point of start and finish. From that point the participants skirt Behring sea to Topkop bluff, cross the mountain range to Council City, strike up Fish creek, defy the dangers of Death's Valley, cross another mountain range and into Candle Creek, the northernmost mining camp on the continent, and return by the same route. It is a run which requires generalship, skill, endurance, training, daring, such as are probably demanded to a like degree by no other sport in the world.

• • •

The esteem in which this event is held may be shown by the fact that a huge loving cup containing $10,000 in gold is usually the first prize. The Alaskan is likely to back his judgment or his friend's in these races, and as much as $250,000 has changed hands on one such event. The race comes at the end of eight months of ice and isolation at Nome. As the event draws near the whole community is absorbed in "talking doz." The race usually lasts for three days. During that time all business is suspended. The laundries, the court houses, the government offices, the mines, the stores, are closed until the race is over. Nobody sleeps. There is but one matter worthy of discussion.

• • •

The discharge of a pistol starts each team in the race an hour behind that which has gone before. In this way the teams are strung out and the time of their arrival and departure is reported by telephone from all the stations. Every individual in the region is concentrated around the telephones getting the returns. They judge from these returns the generalship that is being used, criticise mistakes, lay odds on results. Eighty hours of top notch endurance for man and beast, still without producing exhaustion, over treeless tundras, frozen streams and mountain fastnesses, often in the face of blizzards and snow, with the provision that every dog is to be brought back, dead or alive—these exacting conditions appeal to the pioneers of the north.

• • •

These are some of the striking characteristics of life in Alaska, but the larger towns are being rapidly conventionalized. There is Juneau, the capital, for instance. It is a well regulated town of 2,000 people, with hotels, theaters, waterworks, schools, two daily newspapers—more advantages than the average town of its size in the states. There is Fairbanks, in the interior. Its municipal progressiveness is indicated by the fact that it maintains a municipal heating plant which supplies heat to the business section of the town, thus avoiding the foolish multiplication of furnaces that prevails in the states, and saving nine-tenths of the total cost of heating. Valdez has every convenience, and is a picture town of bay, mountain, forest, stream and glacier. But the points of interest in Alaskan life are, naturally, not those that are conventional.

• • •

The presence of the army in Alaska has had a decided effect on its social well-being. The army ruled the region until 1900, and there are still two companies each at Fort Davis, Nome; Fort Egbert, on the Canadian border; Fort Gibson, on the Tanana; Fort St. Michael, at the mouth of the Yukon, and at Fort William H. Seward, near Skagway. The army has watched over the well-being of Alaska and has served in many an emergency. There was the time, for instance, when there were 10,000 gold seekers and little law at Nome. The men of the army decided most disputes. At one time a mass meeting was called by disappointed and idle miners, and these malcontents, by resolution, were about to declare all mining claims vacated that they might get another chance. This would, of course, have led to a miners' war. But into this emergency a young lieutenant with seven men thrust himself. He seized the meeting, declared it adjourned and, despite the small size of his force, succeeded in dispersing those assembled.

• • •

But the latest blessing that the army has brought to all Alaska is communication with the outside world by telegraph line and wireless. At scores of those towns far in the interior, where communication was formerly cut off half the year, there is now set up a wireless station, and some young corporal of the signal service is today sitting at each instrument, picking off the chat of the great stations along the shore, of the vessels that traverse the north Pacific, of the news service that every day blankets all that region. These bulletins are published as such, or are given to the fortnightly printer who may have fled so far from the maddening crowd and yet retained the desire to put news in type. At Eagle, at Circle, at St. Michael, at Fort Gibson, and many other isolated points, the signal corps has brought the lonely dweller in Alaskan wastes into touch with the world.

• • •

Another government agency that has played a heroic part in the development of Alaska is the geological survey. The exploration of this difficult region has been largely in the hands of these scientists, and they have been an interesting part of its life. The manner in which these men of learning have accomplished the seemingly impossible, has been a revelation to the metal adventurous. They followed streams inland that had never before reflected the image of white man. They rowed their boats until the water got too swift, then they poled, then they waded, day after day, in this water from the snouts of glaciers and pulled their boats after them. They portaged their canoes across watersheds put them into new streams that led they knew not where. If the waters were rough they built stout rafts and started down stream, never knowing when they would be hurled into rapids or over a waterfall. As they went they mapped the unknown, examined its formations, estimated possibilities as to mining. Government geologists told of the gold of Alaska before the miners found it. The government has been able to withhold its wealth from exploitation because of the facts set forth by these men.

• • •

While Alaska presents, mostly, an atmosphere of heroism and hope, there is also its one grim, sardonic feature. Those children of the snows who, through ages, had fitted themselves into a life that was possible and even happy in this inhospitable environment, have found their castles of ice melting about them in the light of civilization. The white man has come and all has changed. The fish that formerly filled their nets are going into his canneries. The caribou of the interior are being killed off. The contagions of civilization are taking direful tolls. Children's diseases as mild as measles and la grippe took a toll of 25 per cent of the Indians of the Yukon in a single season, so sensitive are they to the white man's complaints. There are regions where 60 per cent of the natives have tuberculosis. Their numbers in the whole region are decreasing from 10 to 20 per cent each decade.

• • •

Uncle Sam is ashamed of the condition he acknowledges to exist in Alaska. He is making some effort to counteract the unfavorable conditions. His most effective work along this line is through education, which is his especial enthusiasm, and which he offers to all who come under the flag. The federal government is spending some hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in educating the Alaskan. The federal bureau of education has charge of the work and has planted American teachers in a hundred native villages.

• • •

These teachers constitute another phase of heroism in Alaska. They take up their residences, probably in the far interior, completely cut off from the world. The teacher at Point Barrow, for instance, gets one mail a year from the states, and sometimes this fails to arrive. A young man or woman may be the only white person in a town, the only lamp of learning, the one chance of planting the idea of sanitation, of cleanliness, of morality, that may save this dwindling race. But the native children are docility itself, and are delighted with the school as an aid in passing the monotonously long night of the north. The school house becomes the center, not merely of the ordinary book learning, but of spiritual education, of domestic science—an example of right living and a model for a community. It is to the credit of the nation that the bureau of education always has on hand many more applicants for these difficult positions than it can use.

THE INEVITABLE

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

UP COMES the inevitable sun in the morning. Down he goes at night. Countless ages before I was born he did this; and after I am gone he shall go on for countless ages.

The inevitable moon fills and wanes. The stars keep their places, I have nothing to do with them. Somo one, other than I, disposes them.

Beneath my feet is the inevitable earth. It bears me, it has borne millions, it will remain when we are swept away.

Behind me is the inevitable past. Not even God can change it. It is forever there, as a hard mountain. It is there, as letters chiselled in the granite of time.

Inevitable also is the future. Calamity or success is walking toward me. No hand can stay them; no prayers turn them from our meeting place.

My heart beats, my lungs breathe, my internal organs function. Somebody else is causing them to operate. I have nothing to do with them. I sit a tenant in this body, not mine; a stranger among forces I cannot control.

Inevitable thoughts come to me: pain, sorrow, desire, joy. They descend upon my mind like the hail from heaven. Where do they come from? Why this intruding fancy, or that inexplicable longing?

Inevitable men and women meet me. What had I to do with choosing my parents, my brothers?

We encounter one another, you and I, today upon the street, in a hotel, a train, a crowd. We call it a chance acquaintance but you and I have been moving toward this place for ten thousand years.

Just as in a swirling rainstorm every drop of water is governed by the same inexorable laws that mould the stars, as in a flurry of dust every particle is as rigidly controlled by natural forces as is the planet itself on which we live, so in all the apparent hit and miss of men's doings, in all the conflicts and balances of wills, destiny was leading you and me to come together here.

In the midst of all this inevitableness is a little flaming miracle. It is my will, it is I, doing as I please. Yet as the colt can frolic in the pasture, but cannot get by the fence, so all my freedom is circumscribed by the inevitable.

I was born. I will die. Events will come to me, not as I will, but as the stars will.

Wherein then is happiness? It is in adjusting my little freedom to fit the inevitable.

Great forces, like heat, gravitation, electricity, stream through matter. And a great will streams through all happenings. An unseen tendency and purpose streams through life.

These things no man can understand, no man can alter or in least wise compel. He must submit.

He finds his real success and happiness in realizing the inevitable and in using them as his own.

"Our wills are ours, we know not why,
Our wills are ours, to make them Thine."

THE STRAW BREAKFAST

FROM Germany comes news that a learned man, a German professor of chemistry, has asserted he can make a first-rate food of common wheat straw.

Wheat straw, or oat straw or rye straw, in addition to being useful for sucking cider or lemonade from a receptacle, bedding horses, exercising the leg muscles of hens when grain is concealed in it, fooling lean kine and making hats, is a fertilizer of sorts. It has in it potash, or some other chemical constituent of good soil. It possibly is quite as valuable as a given quantity of shavings ironed out into batter cake formation and then made into marcel waves to tempt the coy appetites of those to whom conformation by honest ham and eggs causes a shudder of horror at breakfast time.

The German savant proposes to make a concentrated food from straw. It is to be a message or cube something like those which you drop into hot water and make a sort of sterilized dishwater which is called by a French name for soup. After eating it, no doubt, a bale of straw swells up in the inner being, and a fountain of strength wells up simultaneously in the same place. Each digit itches for the throat of the enemy, or longs, in the case of a civilian, to take a day's work by the scruff of the neck and cast it into the limbo of things that were. Full of potash and hope, the straw eater is a match for any man. And he can get outside of his concentrated bale of straw in less time than it takes a couple of roan steers to munch down one bale under the lee of a straw stack when driven by winter hunger.

The Herr Professor has, no doubt, hit upon an important discovery. The time may come when it will be said that making bricks without straw is a simple matter compared with making Prussian grenadiers without it. But, unfortunately for America, there is already in the market, for soda fountain and circus lemonade booth use, an artificial straw made of paper treated with paraffin. When Americans begin to fill up on the concentrated straw lozenges Richmond Pearson Hobson and a brace of retired admirals will be sure to go about foretelling a German invasion, and assuring us that every mother's son of us is waddled and packed with paper straw, while the Germans, who have been eating the regular kind, are adequately prepared to strew American giblets all over the United States main, or the Japanese, bred for battle on genuine rice straw, can swim the Pacific and arrive in California with sufficient remaining strength to hammer the anti-alienism out of everybody west of the Rocky mountains.—Courier-Journal.

MAYOR TOLD FALSEHOOD, ALDINE CHAMBERS SAYS

Former Alderman Denies He Is Part of "Invisible Government" of City

"James G Woodward has been called a liar and proved a liar so often that the application of that term to him creates no excitement in the community," declares Aldine Chambers, former alderman and once mayoralty candidate, in reply to one of the mayor's statements, in which the latter charges in substance that Chambers is an invisible part of Atlanta's city government.

The mayor, in his statement, which was issued after his defeat by council on the purchasing agent amendment, declares that vitrified brick pavement is a consideration with "influences" which are being constantly exerted on members of council.

Then the mayor goes on to say that Aldine Chambers is reputed to be the attorney for the company which sold the city the brick for South Forsyth and South Pryor streets. Then the mayor says that Mr. Chambers went to a resident of Ponce de Leon avenue, Walter McElreath, and told him that if the property owners would insist on a vitrified brick, against other classes of pavements, that the county would get to work on the thoroughfare at once.

SAYS IT IS FALSE.

Mr. Chambers declares that the statement in reference to Mr. McElreath is false and that the mayor knew it was false when he made it.

"The mayor and his emissaries," says Mr. Chambers in a written statement, "have been engaged for more than three weeks in an effort to get some sort of evidence to sustain even remotely such a suggestion. He has allowed his spleen to reach the point where he is willing to accept the responsibility himself for the falsehood."

Mayor Woodward, in the statement with which Mr. Chambers takes issue, made some interesting comments on the brick proposition. The mayor says that a petition asking for a wood block pavement on Walton street was circulated among the property owners and signed by 90 per cent of them. Yet when the ordinance to authorize the work was introduced in the street committee, the member from the sixth ward, Councilman Edwin Johnson, found that brick had been substituted for wood block, and stopped the paper.

Practically the same thing happened on a petition to pave Auburn avenue, the mayor says, and when the property owners of Grant street petitioned for a wood block pavement, the ordinance was held up in the aldermanic board. Generally the mayor intimates that the property owners have very little chance of getting a paving prosy through the present council unless brick is demanded.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND CHARGE.

Relative to that part of the mayor's statement, Mr. Chambers says: "As to the petitions for paving Walton street and Auburn avenue, the mayor's statement is the first information I have had on the subject, and I am at a loss to understand why I should be charged with connection therewith, if the facts be as the mayor has stated them."

The city purchasing agent is W. E. Chambers, a brother of Aldine Chambers, and replying to the mayor's intimation that he (Aldine Chambers) and vitrified brick played a part in that fight Mr. Chambers challenges the mayor to produce a single member of council who was asked directly or indirectly by him to support the amendment.

"So far from my endeavoring to maneuver in any manner," says Mr. Chambers, "I positively declined to make a political alliance with a member of council who voted to sustain the mayor's veto last Monday.

Concluding, Mr. Chambers asserts that the mayor is trying to dodge the issue.

"The truth is," he says, "so I am informed, that the mayor was willing for the second ward delegation to control the character, quality and conditions of paving South Pryor street if their three votes were cast for his choice for members of the police board. When they voted solidly against him on this proposition he immediately began to give vent to his spleen."

How to Overcome the Torture Without Harmful Drugs.

A legion of people have used S. S. S. and have overcome the worst forms of rheumatism.

This disease of the blood is little understood because of its strange symptoms, scarcely two people having it exactly alike. And yet, no matter what its form or how painful and distressing, S. S. S. seems to have almost a direct influence in driving it out, releasing the nerves from pain and clearing the joints and muscles so they work without restraint. The best explanation for this happy result is the fact that in S. S. S. are certain ingredients which act as an antidote. They are nature's providence to man.

Just as the meats, fats, salts and sugars of our daily food provide us with nourishment, so does S. S. S. give to the blood the exact medicinal requirement to clear the stream, drive out impurities and reconstruct the body if destructive germs have gained a foothold. Judge Hill's Charge to Jury

A VERY COMMON MISTAKE CORRECTED

"We can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth."
II Corinthians XIII: 8

THE SALE OF WHISKEY, WINE OR BEER IN LOCKER CLUBS IS FORBIDDEN BY THE LAW OF GEORGIA

A local paper said of Judge Hill's charge to the grand jury:

"He called attenion to the part of the state law which refers to 'BONA FIDE' PLACES FOR THE SALE OF LIQUOR, and said that some clubs came under this head and some did not."

Reporter and paper made the mistake of believing that the law of Georgia permits alchohol to be sold in locker clubs.

Judge Hill never intimated that liquor could be legally sold in clubs. On the contrary, he said:

"AS TO THE LOCKER CLUBS, YOU MUST REMEMBER THAT THEY HAVE THE RIGHT TO SERVE THEIR MEMBERS, BUT NOT TO SELL LIQUOR."

"I as judge and you as jurors have no right to an opinion at all. No police commission, no one else has any right to an opinion.

"The law despises evasions and subterfuges."

Strong, but true. Doubtless the judge had in mind these fictitious orders signed to conceal actual sales.

MEANWHILE, HAVE YOU NOTICED HAPPENINGS IN ATLANTA?

Last week, while others were being lifted up by the magic of music, another man killed himself. He had been drinking.

In the small hours of Friday morning, policemen found another girl dazed by drug or drink. She had been carried from an automobile and left in the entrance of a hotel by men.

The same day the poison poured upon our police bore fruit. A negro made a murderous assault upon one of the men. The officer killed him. YOU RECALL THE NEGRO PAPER RIDICULING THE FORCE.

Lawlessness is producing its harvest here, and over the way—

Birmingham Furnishes Figures

The Outlook of April 28th says, concerning Jefferson county, Alabama, which is Birmingham:

"During the three years following 1908, while state prohibition was in force, the coroner's record shows a direct diminution of murders. In 1912 the state returned to open saloons. Here is the graphic record of results:

	1909 Prohibition	1910 Prohibition	1911 Prohibition	1912 Open Saloons
MURDERS	130	138	88	306

"The total number of arrests for the period between 1907 and 1914 is also worthy of attention:

	1907 Saloons	1908 Prohibition	1912 Saloons	1913 Saloons	1914 Saloons
Arrests	11,812	7,333	17,412	21,247	21,667

From 88 murders to 306 in one year—

From 7,333 arrests in 1908 to 21,667 in 1914—

These figures easily explain why Alabama has adopted a prohibition law, which even forbids newspapers and billboards to carry liquor advertisements.

But they will never enable you to understand the systematic effort, apparent to the whole state of Georgia, made to keep the chief of police in Atlanta from enforcing the law.

You will recall Esop's story of

The Countryman and the Snake

"A villager, in a frosty, snowy winter, found a snake under a hedge, almost dead with cold. He could not help having a compassion for the poor creature, so brought it home and laid it upon the hearth, near the fire; but it had not lain there long, before (being revived with the heat) it began to erect itself, and fly at his wife and children, filling the whole cottage with dreadful hissing. The countryman heard the outcry, and perceiving what the matter was, caught up a mattock and soon dispatched him; upbraiding him at the same time in these words: 'Is this, vile wretch, the reward you make to him that saved your life? Die as you deserve; but a single death is too good for you.'"

When the HEALTH-GIVING writer of prohibition struck the snake of alcohol in Georgia, some thoughtless one brought it into the very hearthstone of the state by permitting it, NOT TO BE SOLD, but to be kept in locker clubs.

And like the snake, awake, the thing is spreading its poisonous spitting across the state, trying to pollute policemen and to clog the courts of the state.

DOUBTLESS THE COUNTRYMAN WILL KILL THE GREAT SNAKE

By outlawing locker clubs and near beer joints, when the legislature meets this summer.

But meanwhile none should interfere with the chief of police, the grand jury, the solicitor-general or other public officials willing to put an end to the ever-growing plague of snakes in Georgia, especially in its capital.

Good citizens will say Godspeed!

Thin Folks Get Fat On Three Meals A Day

Specialist Explains Why Food Does Not Always Produce Flesh and How Thin People Can Increase Weight.

Most people who are thin and under normal weight eat heartily but get no increase in flesh, while plump, chunky folks of normal weight eat less than they do and keep stout all the time. The underweight ones finally decide Nature intended them to be thin, that the amount or nature of their food has nothing to do with flesh-making and that nothing can make them fat. But this is not so.

A stout, strong, robust body can come alone from food nourishment. Food is the source of all fat and if you are thin and underweight it is a certain indication that only a small portion of the flesh-making nourishment in your meals is reaching your blood and tissues. The assimilative functions of your stomach and intestines are not working properly and the larger part of the food value is leaving your body as waste.

To correct such a condition, to gain flesh, increase weight and get 100 per cent value from your food, a single Sargol tablet taken at each meal will work wonders. Sargol is a scientific combination of six splendid assimilative agents. It promptly stops the leakage of fats and white aiding digestion, also separates every last particle of the fats, oils, sugars and starches of your food from the waste matter and prepares the former into rich, ripe, flesh producing nourishment which the blood readily absorbs and distributes throughout the body. Weight increases usually begins within a very few days after Sargol is used with meals. In my opinion two ordinary hearty meals eaten with Sargol is equal in flesh making value to six ordinary hearty meals eaten without it. So, if you people who are thin, run down and underweight and see me if I am not right.

You can buy Sargol from Jacobs' Pharmacy or practically any druggist hereabouts and every package contains a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back. While it is very valuable as a treatment for nervous indigestion, it should not be used by people who do not wish to increase weight.—(Advt.)

Greatest Event in Woman's Life

All human experience looks back to motherhood as the wonder of wonders.

The patience, the fortitude, the sublime faith during the period of expectancy are second only to the mother love bestowed upon the most helpless but most marvelous creation—a baby.

Women are quick to learn from each other those helpful agencies that aid to comfort, yet are perfectly safe to use and among these they recommend "Mother's Friend."

Merely an external application designed to lubricate the broad, flat muscles and skin that protect the abdomen. It has been in favorable use for nearly half a century and is known to mothers in almost every settled community in the United States who highly recommend it. You will find it on sale in drug stores. "Mother's Friend" is utterly harmless, contains no deadening drugs, very beneficial, very soothing and a wonderful help.

tack yesterday northwest of Pont-a-Mousson broke down under the German fire with great loss to the attackers; and that northeast of Suwalki and east of Augustowo numerous Russian advances failed and the Germans took 400 prisoners.

Referring to the fighting in West Galicia the report says an Austro-German attack north of the wooded Carpathians pierced the third fortified Russian line and that the Russians with heavy losses in order defeat along this entire front, and are beginning to evacuate threatened positions on their northern flank, southwest of Dukla pass.

The statement follows:

"Western theater of war: The British continue their offensive, with heavy losses, in the direction of the bridgehead situated sharply to the east of Ypres. The Van Heule and Frelinghien farms, the castle ground of Herenthage, and the Set Pappotje farm were taken by us.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle there is again great activity in the forest of Le Prettre, northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, the French attacked yesterday with strong forces. Notwithstanding a long preparatory bombardment by artillery, their attack broke down under our counter attack with heavy losses to the enemy. On the other hand, we began attacks in the forest of Ailly and to the east thereof, which made good progress. Up to the present we have taken 10 officers and 750 men.

"Eastern theater of war: Attacks from Rocshitz, coming from down the southeast, were repulsed. The enemy is being pursued at Kalwayra, also northeast of Suwalki, and east of Augustowo, where numerous Russian advances failed. Several hundred prisoners were taken.

"On the remainder of the front there were a few fights at close quarter, all of which were decided in our favor.

"Southeastern theater of war: An attack by the allied troops north of the wooded Carpathians pierced through the third fortified line of the Russians, who yesterday were defeated along the entire front, retreating toward the Wisloka river. The magnitude of the victory may be seen from the fact that owing to the piercing by the allies of the enemy's lines, the Russians are beginning to evacuate threatened positions on their northern flank, in the wooded Carpathians southwest of Dukla.

"The rapidity with which our successes have been achieved makes it impossible to give an idea in figures of the booty taken in this victory. According to reports at hand the number of prisoners taken up to the present amounts to over 30,000."

Entire Regiment of Turks Annihilated at Dardanelles

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, May 5.—A dispatch from Mytilene to the Havas Agency says that a regiment of Turkish troops was annihilated during fighting at the Dardanelles last night and that the allied transported 1,000 more prisoners to Tenedos and Moudros. The dispatch also says that a squadron of warships of the allies again bombarded forts at the Dardanelles and Turkish encampments on the coast.

Turks Rush Troops to Kirk-Kilisseh; Fear Bulgars

LONDON, May 5.—Adrianople has been almost completely denuded of troops, while all heavy artillery has been removed from the forts, says a dispatch to the Times from Sofia. A large part of the troops which had been sent to the Gallipoli peninsula now have been recalled in haste and sent to Kirk-Kalisseh, thirty-two miles northeast of Adrianople, and to Midia, on the Black sea.

The Turkish government has reconsidered its decision to suspend railway service to Bulgaria in the fear that Bulgaria might be provided with an excuse to seize the railway. Orient Railway will be operated to Dedeagatch.

Germans Repulsed With Serious Losses at Ypres

PARIS, May 5.—The French war office this afternoon gave out this statement:

"To the north of Ypres the Germans yesterday evening delivered an attack against the left sector of the British front. They were repulsed, and taken in the flank by the French artillery, they suffered serious losses.

"Nothing has been reported from the remainder of the front."

Nine British Trawlers Sunk During Monday

LONDON, May 5.—Nine trawlers is the bag credited to a German submarine on Monday, of this result in a message received here from Hull. The victims were the Iolanthe, Hero, Northward Ho, Hector, Progress, Coronet and Rob White, of Hull, and the Rugby Bridge, of Grimsby.

So far as is known no lives were lost in these encounters. Crews of the fishing vessels say the submarine was of the newest type and had an iron cross painted on her conning tower. She ran amuck among the fishing fleet and sank seven vessels in quick succession. The crews were given time to escape, but in some cases the small boats drifted for hours before they were picked up.

Each man coming ashore is exhibiting a huge lump of black bread, given him by the crew of the submarine. The sailors are preserving these pieces of bread as souvenirs.

Berlin Claims Another Victory in West Galicia

BERLIN, (Via London, May 5.)—The southern wing of the Russian army in West Galicia has been broken along a front of 24 miles, according to a dispatch to the Tageblat from a special correspondent.

"The attack was made with such determination," says the correspondent, "that the Russians were forced to abandon not only their first line but also the village back of the front which served as quarters. Only in Gorlice did the Russians make a stand. This town was destroyed by an artillery bombardment and a bitter street fight preceded its capture by the Germans.

"All the staff officers of one Russian division were killed or wounded, including several generals. The majority of prisoners wore military caps but civilian clothing. They complained of insufficient food."

Turk Populace Fleeing From Gallipoli Peninsula to Asia

PARIS, May 5.—A Havas dispatch from Athens, filed yesterday, states that the inhabitants of Gallipoli and other parts of the peninsula are crossing in large numbers to the Asiatic shore.

Two hundred Turkish prisoners taken by the allies were removed to Tenedos Monday.

THEATERS

A whirlwind of irresistible applause rises from orchestra to gallery when, amidst a flash, a piercing shriek and the crash of falling bars, the astonishing secret of the Great Carter's masterpiece of illusion, "The Lion's Bride," is revealed at the climax of his final act at the Forsyth this week. A genuine lion, a brutal, snarling beast, lashed into a frenzy of excitement, pounces upon a beautiful Turkish girl cast into his den. The audience at the fourth performance, inspired to a gale of ovation when the secret is unfolded before their amazed and unsuspecting view, William Penselle and troupe in "A Holland Romance," is one of the big treats of the all-star bill. Van and Schenck, singers de luxe, writers of their own songs, and comedians of extraordinary ability; Mr. and Mrs. Barry, in that funniest of farces, "The Rube;" the Sully family, in a spicy melange of variety, and Genevieve Warner, the talented harpist, complete the program.

"The Eagle's Nest," the second big feature release of the moving picture's most gigantic combination, the Vitagraph-Selig-Lubin-Essanay combine, the people who produced "The Juggernaut," will be the offering at the Grand theater Wednesday and Thursday. "The Eagle's Nest" is a story of the boundless west, infinitely appealing photographically perfect and abounding in dramatic thrills. "Little Sunset," the famous boy and baseball story, written by Charles T. Van Loan, and staged and played by Hobart Bosworth, will be Friday's attraction, while "Woman and Wine," staged by William Elliott, for the World Film company will play the Grand Saturday.

FRENCH PEASANTS AT WORK ON THEIR FARMS

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, British Army, France, April 27.—The aged peasants of France, assisted by the women and children, have gone valiantly and diligently ahead with the farm work wherever opportunity offered, so that spring finds every inch of agricultural country, barring those strips of no-man's land between the trenches of the opposing armies, under cultivation. Practically all of the available land has been planted and along the front held by the British army are thousands of acres in wheat, some of it already more than an inch high. France is duplicating the intense farming idea of the Germans.

LAST PLEA OF SUICIDE IS 'DON'T TELL MOTHER"

W. H. Davis, Son of Atlantians, Ends Life With Girl at Birmingham, Ala.

The request that his mother, Mrs. H. D. Davis, of Atlanta, be kept in ignorance of his death was embodied in the death note of W. H. Davis, the Anniston, Ala., man who carried out a suicide pact at Birmingham with his stenographer, Miss Ethel Fulmer.

Mrs. Davis is the wife of the school janitor at Georgia Tech. They have made their home on the Tech campus for years and had earned the liking and respect of students for generations past. It was stated at the school Wednesday that they had learned of their son's death through telegrams from Anniston, and that Mr. Davis was preparing to depart for Alabama.

Davis and Miss Fulmer were found dead in each other's arms Tuesday afternoon at a boarding house at Wellington, near Anniston, according to dispatches. They are said to have swallowed cyanide of potassium. The note which they left declared they sought death together rather than life and separation.

Besides the request that his mother be spared the shock of his suicide, Davis asked that he and Miss Fulmer be buried in the same casket without services or flowers, and that his interest in the Acme Plumbing company, which he owned, be turned over to his wife, Mrs. Alice D. Davis, of 615 Pharr avenue, Birmingham. Miss Fulmer's mother is Mrs. E. M. Fulmer, 720 Ethel avenue, Birmingham.

EASIER TO GET WINE IN RUSSIAN CAFES

PETROGRAD, April 27.—Strict prohibition of wines which followed the abolition of vodka in Petrograd, has begun to be relaxed to some extent. For a time it was impossible for diners in hotels and restaurants to secure wines at any price. Today, on the contrary, it is quite easy to have such beverages served more or less openly. Householders easily procure supplies for home consumption by applying to the police captain of the district wherein they live.

BRITISH WORRIED ABOUT OIL WELLS IN MEXICO

Embassy Officials Fear Fighting in Oil Region May Result in Great Damage

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—British embassy officials today anxiously awaited further information regarding reports of a renewal of fighting between Villa forces and Carranza troops near Tampico which said the former had captured Panuco. Meager advices to that effect had come to the state department from Vera Cruz.

The anxiety of embassy officials is due to the fact that Panuco, about fifty miles southwest of Tampico is located in the Mexican oil regions, where there are many British-owned wells, which supply British warships with oil. They recalled that shell fire during the fighting near Ebano recently had ignited some of these wells.

Lecture by Mary Antin

The lecture by Mary Antin on Thursday evening at the Atlanta theater will be of wide interest.

Mary Antin's initial appearance on the American platform was in 1913. From the beginning she has held her audiences in rapt attention and thrilled them to a high degree. With entire simplicity, without studied forms of speech and yet with diction as perfect as thought wrought out in the leisure and quiet of her study, she speaks words of conviction which her audiences find hard to forget. One may not always agree with her, but no one can fail to be influenced by her absolute sincerity, her terrible earnestness and her vibrant optimism.

Within a period of twelve months Mary Antin made her extensive lecture tours in New England and two of the middle west. The desire to see and hear her is universal throughout the country and all kinds of organizations, especially schools and colleges are demanding to hear her. Her Pacific coast tour promises to be one of unusual interest and personal triumph.

Large audiences and in many cases overflowing houses crowd to hear this small and apparently frail woman who possesses such tremendous nervous and vital energy.

A Thrush at Kenmare

The mist is on the hills; the hush
Of evening fills the air;
And in the dusk I hear the thrush
Fluting in far Kenmare.

He flutters through the leaves, he swings
Upon the blossoming spray
By the dim roadside, while he sings
An alien heart away.

Beyond these Irish fields of green
What weary wastes of sea
Under the wan moon roll between
My only love and me!

In buying CREX don't be Sold

When you ask for a CREX Rug be sure you get one. "Be from Missouri"—make the salesman show the name CREX on the side binding. If it isn't there it isn't a CREX. If it isn't a CREX you are being cheated.

Substitutes are sold—and so are the purchasers. When a dealer tries to sell you another grass rug as being "just as good," it is because he is making a larger profit on an inferior article.

CREX was the first wire-grass rug made and is still first in durability, beauty and sanitary perfection. Clean, cool, inexpensive—yet always dependable. Holds no dirt nor germs. Needs no beating—simply shaking. Made in a variety of artistic designs and colors, and in various sizes.

BEWARE OF ALL SUBSTITUTES. Shun the cheap Japanese rugs of questionable sanitation; they have been aptly called the "yellow peril."

IT RUINS HAIR TO WASH IT WITH SOAP

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—(Advt.)

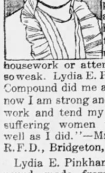
THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.



Bridgeton, N.J.—"I want to thank you a thousand times for the wonderful good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered very much from a female trouble. I had bearing down pains, was irregular and at times could hardly walk across the room. I was unable to do my housework or attend to my baby I was so weak. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me a world of good, and now I am strong and healthy, can do my work and tend my baby. I advise all suffering women to take it and get well as I did."—Mrs. FANNIE COOPER, R.F.D., Bridgeton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Little Stories For Bedtime

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Under the big hickory tree on the bank of the Smiling Pool were gathered together the Quaddies. Billy Mink was there. So were Little Joe Otter, Jerry Muskrat, Prickly Porky, Bobby Coon, Jimmy Skunk, Danny Meadow Mouse, Jumper the Hare, Happy Jack Squirrel, Chatterer the Red Squirel, Unc' Billy Possum, and, of course, Peter Rabbit. The fact is, Peter had called this meeting.

Peter hardly knew where to begin, but at last he decided that he would tell the others the whole story of Sammy Jay. So he began at the beginning and told how Sammy had visited him in the dear old Brier Patch and asked what was necessary in order to become a Quaddy.

"Pooh!" interrupted Prickly Porky, "he asked me that, and I told him that he couldn't be a Quaddy because he isn't a little quadruped, and, of course, only little quadrupeds can be Quaddies."

"That's what I told him," replied Peter, "and right away he said that he didn't think much of a band which would not admit such good friends as Mrs. Grouse, Tommy Tit the Chickadee, Welcome Robin and Winsome Bluebird, but, of course, they are not quadrupeds. That set me to thinking. Sammy said that he should think the Quaddies ought to include all the little meadow and forest people, and I believe he is right, that is, of course, we ought to include all those who agree to help each other. Now, I don't see why we shouldn't include Mrs. Grouse and the others. To be sure they are not quadrupeds, because they haven't four feet, but they have two feet and two wings, and after all what are wings but a different kind of feet? The birds use them just as we use our feet, to get around with, so I do not see why we should not let the feathered folks join the Quaddies."

"Ah, I must say Brer Rabbit is talking sense," declared Unc' Billy Possum. "Ah don' hear Brer Jay any love, but Ah certinly would like to see Sister Grouse and some of our other feathered neighbors members of our band."

"I told Sammy Jay that he couldn't be a Quaddy, anyway," replied Peter. "I told him that nobody could be a Quaddy who is wholly bad. I thought he would fly off into a temper, but he didn't. He was just as polite as you please. He said he didn't want to be a Quaddy, but he just wanted to know what was necessary to become one. Now I am going to ask Danny Meadow Mouse to tell just what Sammy Jay did this morning."

So Danny Meadow Mouse, in his funny, squeaky, little voice, told the story of how he had been careless that morning, forgetting to watch out for danger, and how Reddy Fox certainly would have caught him had it not been for Sammy Jay. "I certainly owe my life and the life of Nanny Meadow Mouse to Sammy Jay," said Danny, "and I think you will all agree that Sammy has some good in him."

"All that Danny has said is true," said Peter. "I saw it all from the dear Old Brier Patch and couldn't do a thing to help. You all know I don't love Sammy Jay."

"Who does?" interrupted Bobby Coon. "Nobody, I guess," grinned Peter, "but it seems to me we will have to admit that there is some good in him, and that being the case, is there any reason why he cannot become a Quaddy if he wants to?"

For a few minutes no one said a word, then Danny Meadow Mouse once more spoke. "That's fair," said he, "Sammy has proven that there is good in him and if he really wants to be a Quaddy we should let him."

"Ah done think Brer Meadow Mouse is right," declared Unc' Billy, and in this opinion all the others agreed. So it was decided to invite Sammy Jay to join the Quaddies.

AGED WOMAN FOLLOWS HUSBAND TO GRAVE

Grief over the death of her husband, whose funeral occurred just one week ago, is believed to be largely responsible for the death of Mrs. Nancy J. Doonan, seventy years old, of 181 Luckie street.

Her husband, Frank J. Doonan, died April 26, and the shock of his death was so great to Mrs. Doonan that she had been confined to her bed since. Only occasionally was she conscious.

Surviving her are her sisters, Mrs. E. A. Lackey and Mrs. Laura Menefee, of Cartersville, Ga. The funeral will be held at the Sacred Heart Catholic church Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock, and interment will be in West View.

WILSON AVOIDS WALSH AND ROCKEFELLER ROW

President Explains Why He Would Not Give Out Letters From Governor Ammons

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Wilson's refusal yesterday to furnish the industrial relations commission with copies of correspondence with former Governor Ammons, of Colorado, on the Colorado coal strike was explained at the White House today with the statement that the president did not care to take any part in the controversy between Chairman Walsh and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., over Mr. Walsh's assertion that an agent of Mr. Rockefeller had written a letter to the president for Governor Ammons to sign.

The president's friends understand he believes the commission should conduct the investigation into industrial conditions for which it was created by congress without getting into newspaper controversies. While he has not gone into the merits of the discussion between Mr. Walsh and Mr. Rockefeller, it was said today he thinks the object of the commission's investigation are apt to be defeated if published attacks on witnesses before the commission are continued.

Marist Makes It Seven in a Row

Ivy Street Boys Down G. M. A. in Rosy Style—Boys' High Holds Second Place by Beating Peacock

Marist annexed their seventh straight game in the race for the pennant in the local prep league yesterday, defeating Georgia Military academy in easy style, 16 to 4. Marist had the edge throughout, and after the first few innings the outcome was never in doubt. Marist swatted the pill for fifteen safeties, seven of which were extra base affairs, while Brock held Georgia Military academy to only two bingles, one of which was of the scratch variety.

The star of the game was Frank Harrison. Harrison's hitting has been one of the bright spots in Marist's playing, and Tuesday he had an unusually good day, getting four hits out of five tries. One of these was a four-ply smash, two of them went for two cushions, and the other a single. Wrigley's work in left field and that of Pitcher Brock were the defensive features of Marist's playing. Gato, behind the bat for Georgia Military academy, played good ball.

Boys' High found Pitcher Murphey's assortment of speed and wisters ratiern to their liking yesterday, and during the six innings that the game lasted made ten hits and seven runs, while Peacock was able to garner but one run from the three hits of Montgomery's hurling. The final score was 7 to 1. The only feature of the game, aside from the numerous Boys' High school hits, was a home run by Frank Armistead in the fifth. This keeps Boys' High still second in the race, having won seven and lost one contest, while Peacock has lost eight in a row.

Knocking Pitcher Dunnagan out of the box during the first inning, and continuing the attack on Pitcher Polhemus in succeeding frames, Tech High won their second game of the season from Donald Fraser Tuesday afternoon, the final score of the struggle being 9 to 3. A long, running, one-handed catch by Fielder Wyatt Wood in the fifth round for Donald Fraser, robbing Parks of a home run, was the feature. The work of Morgan on first and the pitching of Smith for the junior Smithies was good.

Semi-Finals In Golf Tourney

With four more days left for completion, play in the Eugene V. Haynes trophy tournament over the Druid Hills golf course has been narrowed down to the semi-final matches in all flights. The tournament was originally scheduled for completion last week, but owing to the fact that the grand opera season was on, the time limit was extended one week.

The winner of the first flight will be awarded the Haynes cup for a period of one year. In order to gain permanent possession of this trophy it must be won three times, or in three different tournaments.

Columbia Bouts Are Called Off

The boxing card scheduled for the Columbia theater Friday night of this week by Mike Saul has been postponed. This action was taken because of the fact that Eddie Hanlon, who was expected to meet Roy Hirst in the main bout, has left the city, and Saul does not know whether or not he will return in time for the match. Rather than face the necessity of offering a substitute bout at the last minute, Saul chose to postpone the matches until a later date.

Quite a lot of interest has been aroused in the match proposed between Battling Budd and Kid Underwood. Also the match between Kavanaugh, a New York battler, and Kid Young promises to be a good one. Saul is accordingly disappointed for an opponent for Hirst, and as soon as one can be landed the card will be staged with the single change that Hanlon will be replaced by another.

LINES TO THE YANKS.

O Tempora! O Mores! O you Yanks!
Whoever thought you'd start on such a spree,
To leave the rut and climb the dizzy banks
Up where the Giants and Mackmen used to be?
Whoever thought, old rovers, you were there
With sprigs of olive tangled in your hair?

Some eminent philosopher has figured it out that in this mundane existence most things even up—that those who wear the laurel and those who wear the chaplet of thorns shall some day swap possessions.

There is proof extant that he was right. From 1890 to 1910 Yale's football machine almost yearly drove Harvard off the plains. But since 1910 Harvard has so predominated that Yale has hardly had a chance.

The philosopher's idea is developing even keener truth in baldom. The first switch came last summer, when the Braves rose and upset the Giants and Mackmen. But the most elastic reversal came on the first day of May, 1915, when John J. McGraw and Cornelius McGillicuddy were piloting tail enders while Pat Moran and Billy Donovan, two new leaders, had the scoffed-at Phillies and the jeered-at Yanks in first place.

GONE—ALL GONE.

As C. Lamb almost remarked—"Gone, all gone, are the old familiar landmarks."

In this sporting whirl the upset came with blinding speed. On May 1, 1914, the Giants had three pennant years back of them, with a fourth in sight; the Mackmen had three world series years back of them with a fourth only a canter on ahead.

On the same day the Yanks had ten years of disaster back of them—and little hope ahead. And the Phillies were breaking and fading.

And then, one year later, May 1, 1915, the Yanks and Phillies were leading, with Giants and Mackmen in the cellar, looking as spotted as the Yanks and Phillies had ever looked at their worst. Which, after all, is the way of baseball, and life—and the rest of it.

THE UPRISEN YANKS.

There are a few details in connection with the revised Yanks that might be considered in the light of future events.

From the first of July to October 1 last season the Yanks traveled at a .240 clip, or thereabouts, enough to have put them in third place with a fair start. This, too, without the help of Ray Caldwell the greater part of the way.

Since then they have added two firstclass aids in Pipp and High and have regained Caldwell. And they have in Bill Donovan a leader who understands the art of obtaining all the fight and hustle their systems carry.

WHY A FLUKE?

Some expert has referred to the Yank uplift as a "fluke start." Why the fluke?

They have in Nunamaker and Sweeney two firstclass catchers. In Caldwell, Fisher, McHale, Brown and Keating—with Cole, Pieh and Wahrop in reserve—they have all the pitching they need. They have had the pitching and fielding for a year. What they have lacked is the punch at bat—and now with Cook, Pipp, Cree, Nunamaker, Sweeney and Hartzell their aggressive strength is doubled.

As the situation now stands there is only one affair that can drive the Yanks back into the second division—and this will be injuries or accidents linked to a slump that may bring back the old days of discouragement. If they can meet their first slump and keep on fighting, with the indigo days of old forgotten, the Yank habitat for 1915 should be among the first four to a rock-ribbed certainty.

SHORT LENGTHS.

"What," asks an exchange, "is the most useful ingredient in sport—speed, power, courage or brain?"

None of them. The most useful ingredient is a philosophy that can take the luck of the game as it comes and can accept failure without depression and success without conceit.

If the Mackmen were slipping fast last summer when they had Collins, Baker, Bender and Plank, their present attitude is not to be wondered at.

There are two more notches in the gun handle of old Doc Time. Only a year or two ago Mathewson and Bender were world series stars, in possession of the spotlight. Now May is slipping on toward June, and neither has yet put through a victory.

On the other paw—considerable paw, at that—one John Henry Wagner, in his forty-first year, is batting .325 and covering all the ground there is around second base. John Henry Wagner is one illustrious target that Time, after twenty years of shooting, has never been able to hit.

"Those who believe that "lightning never strikes twice in the same place" should converse with John McGraw. He can prove that lightning can keep on striking in the same place until there is little but debris and dust left.

"There is nothing certain in sport," runs an old adage. Nothing, probably, except the Phillies on the day Alexander is picked to work. Five victories for one "choice" by the first of May is a record that may have been equalled but has never been broken.

Thomas' Batting Enables Pels to Overcome a Four-Run Lead—Lookouts Trim Vols, Chicks Beat Travelers

MOBILE, Ala., May 5.—Darkness ended yesterday's game between Mobile and New Orleans at the end of the ninth inning with the score a tie, 8 to 8. Mobile had a lead of four runs at one time, but Thomas' home run, his second in two days, scored two runners ahead of him in the seventh, and his single, an error, Thomas' steal and Schmidt's error to head him, let in the tying run in the ninth. Sylvester's hitting was a feature.

Good Box Work For Big Games

College pitching calculated to rouse up memories of stirring contests of the past is one of the features promised for the coming battles between Tech and Georgia on Grant field Friday and Saturday of the current week. Local supporters of the two teams are already busy with claims for their favorites and promising the opposition just what they may expect when the two clash.

Georgia will rely on her two veterans, Corley and Hitchcock. Tech's two standbys are Senter and Bryant. All of these except one have previously engaged in diamond duels between the two teams. Senter is drawing his first chance to work on the mound against Georgia, while Bryant pitched against them. Red and Black last season, and both Corley and Hitchcock have been pitted against Jacket batsmen before.

Thus far neither coach has announced his pitching choice for the opener, and each will probably not be made until just before the game. A good guess is that Senter will start for the Golden Tech, however. The lanky Chattanoogan is somewhat steadier than Bryant, his southpaw running mate, and if he gets away from the first one or two innings well, will prove a hard man to beat. As a rule Coach Bean has been sending Hitchcock in as his first bet, but his choice will doubtless be reserved until he has had a chance to look over both of his men closely. But regardless of the choice, it is a safe bet that two ambitious young men will be in there serving up everything they have in their efforts to baffle the opposition.

G. M. C. Swamps Riverside Nine

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., May 5.—With Winn hurling in great form G. M. C. had little trouble in winning the second game of the series from Riverside here Tuesday afternoon, score 11 to 1. The local pitcher allowed but three hits and struck out thirteen. Head for Riverside was driven out of the box in the second, when he was buried beneath an avalanche of hits. Four singles and two triples were secured off him in this inning. Thurman, who replaced him, fared somewhat better.

Crackers Reverse Form And Trim Barons Easily

BY INNIS BROWN

Consistency may be a jewel of sparkling brilliance, but improvement is a more welcome consideration as a rule. Wherefore some fifteen hundred local fans, a large part of whom were petticoated, filed out through the gates at Ponce de Leon Tuesday afternoon in a much more placid state of mind than had characterized a like gathering on the preceding day. Returns on the afternoon's work on the diamond showed the Crackers topping a 4 to 1 score against the Birmingham Barons.

It was a far cry from the spectacle presented for the edification or rather mortification of local fandom in the opener with the Alabama delegation. Improvement was shown all along the line, pitching, batting, fielding and otherwise, and you might have been puzzled to reconcile the fracas of the preceding day with the exhibition Tuesday, had you been there and seen the two. Possibly there was and still is some balm in the alibi offered concerning an eighteen-hours' ride on a train. At any rate, we still insist that it was a perfectly good alibi, and so long as the result Tuesday goes to support it, we are not open to conviction otherwise.

Ed Dent was elected to man the defense of the Smithies, and whether he continues to wield a cloud over the Barons, or was just in there with the stuff to baffle the best in the circuit or not is a matter for debate. However, there is no argument on his work in that particular game. In just one inning were the Barons able to connect, and even then Dent was surprised by an attack from the rear, as it were. Demon Dave Roth, who opposed Dent on the slab, fired the volley that kept the local hurler from chalking up a shoutout. Always there is a kind of a feeling that the umpire isn't going to cut any great big wide swath in the offensive tactics of his clan, but Roth did.

Except for that one inning, the second, when Roth scored Carroll with a long double to right center, the Barons were able just once to work a man around to third at Dent's expense. This does not take into account the opening round, when failure on part of Captain Bisland to flag a grounder from Magee's bat allowed them to get men on second and third. But even then Dent tightened up, and sat McBride down on strikes for the third out.

On one other occasion the visitors coupled up a pair of safe drives, but that, too, with none down. But Dent braced, and the support back of him rallied nobly to his defense. Singles by McBride and Carroll in the fourth put runners on first and second with none gone. But Ellam's bunt went straight to Dent, and McBride was choked off at third. Eibel retired Hale without help, and Dent, taking heed of the past performance of Roth, sent him back on strikes for the third out. A pair of balls, to Hemingway and a single by Clark came near causing trouble in the eighth. However, Dent speared Sloan's fast drive toward the box, and started a double which retired the side. Williams and Eibel helped out in the double killing.

Meanwhile the Crackers had been boosting a bit in their stick work over the clubbing of Monday. In the sixth, Lee opened with a single to center. Williams moved him along to second, and Rumler drove him over with another safe poke to center, after Smith had grounded out from Clark to Carroll.

The locals got busy again in the seventh. Bisland beat out a hit to Carroll, and went to third on Eibel's double to right. Potts failed to help the cause, but with the infield pulled in close to catch Bisland at the plate, Dent fired one past Clark with enough steam to carry it on past Sloan and Magee and the punch went for three bases, counting Bisland and Eibel. Dent was returning a little favor on part of Roth in an earlier inning. Lee grounded to Hemingway and Dent was cut down at the plate. He stole second, but Williams was unable to drive him over.

Moran singled with two gone in the eighth, and stole second. Bisland lifted a fly back of third, and Hemingway dropped it. Moran scored. Eibel hit one at Clark so hot that he couldn't handle it, and Boland took second. Potts beat out a roller down the third base line, filling the bags. Bisland was cut down at the plate, when he tried to score on a throw to second to catch Eibel, who was straying rather far up the baseline.

The game produced several sensational plays. The leading stunt was a catch by Magee on Rumler in the fourth. Bill Rumler has been left and center that looked like a sure homer, but Magee made a leaping one-hand stab, and the ball stuck. Rumler had practically reached second when Magee speared the ball.

By way of retaliation, Rumler retired the three batters in the seventh without assistance. He took Ellam's fly back close to the signs. A bit later he raced far over toward center to gather in a lofter by Hale. He followed with the third out on his catch of Roth's foul far down the right field line. In this inning Dent threw only three balls, and in actual play none of the Crackers save Dent and Rumler handled the ball at all.

Big Prep Meet At Grant Field

Nine Schools Enter Teams for Track Meet to Be Staged Friday and Saturday by Tech Authorities

Preparations are being rapidly completed for the Tech Inter-Scholastic Track and Field Meet which will be held on Grant field on Friday and Saturday of this week. The first of these meets was held last year, and such was its success that the athletic authorities at Tech have decided to make it an annual affair.

Already a large list of entries has been received. The following schools have entered teams: Georgia Military Academy, Second District A. & M. at Tifton, Fourth District A. & M. at Carrollton, Rome High school, Berry school at Rome, Carrollton High school, Warrenton High school, Thomson High school.

Preliminaries for events in which a large entry list has been received, especially in running and hurdle races will be run on Friday. The finals in all events will be held Saturday. The performance Friday will start at 12:30 o'clock and are expected to be finished by 2:30. Saturday's events will be started at 1 o'clock, and will continue on up until time to start the Tech-Georgia baseball game, so those who care can see the meet on a ticket which will be good for the ball games also. All who desire may go out early enough for the meet, and remain through the games together for the price of a regular admission to the ball games.

Mercer Wins From Sewanee

SEWANEE, Tenn., May 5.—Mercer University defeated the Sewanee Tigers here yesterday afternoon by a score of 10 to 3. When Swann, for the Georgians, hit a hot one to Bruce in the first inning and the Tiger left fielder let the ball through him, the Mercer lad crossed the pan. Again in the second Stevens, for the Baptists, hit to left and the ball bounded over a few fence for a home run, scoring Gibson, who was on second, as well as the shortstop in the latter half of that inning Ellerbe, for Sewanee, doubled, went to third on Leftwich's sacrifice, and scored on an error.

Dinkins, an Atlanta boy, singled with Mercer on second, as well as the shortstop in the eighth and were brought home on a triple by Ellerbe, giving the Tigers the lead. But Mercer came back in the ninth and won out in the tenth.

Murphy Loses to White

BOSTON, May 5.—Charlie White knocked out Eddie Murphy in the seventh round of a scheduled twelve-round bout last night. The men are lightweights.

The decision was a technical one, being due directly to the invasion of the ring of Murphy's seconds after Murphy had been floored four times.

CHINA-JAPAN WAR NEWS CAUSED BREAK IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 40 to 45 Points Down from Previous Close

By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 5.—Renewed weakness in Liverpool was followed by an opening decline of 40 to 45 points in the cotton market this morning and active positions sold 14 to 16 points net lower right after the call under Liverpool. New Orleans and Wall street selling offerings were not as heavy or as aggressive as they were on the opening decline of yesterday, and prices rallied 3 or 4 points before the early trading on some fresh buying inspired by reports of wet weather in the southwest. Private cables attributed the English break to renewed liquidation and over trade advices from China.

Offerings increased on the slight early rally after breaking to a net loss of 20 to 22 points with December making new low ground for the movement, prices rallied 3 or 4 points from the lowest on reports of general showers and rain in the Houston district and a better view of the weekly weather report. Trading slowed off on the advance, and the market still more or less unsettled during the early afternoon.

The failure of the bullish weather news to create any general or aggressive buying served to further unsettle sentiment and the market became weak again in the middle of the afternoon with prices about 20 to 25 points net lower, under renewed liquidation and Wall street selling which may have been partly due to the easier stock market.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 5.—Cotton lost 14 to 17 points in the early trading today as the result of much lower Liverpool market than expected, trade reports from England and expectations of rain in the central and eastern portions of the cotton country.

Selling continued until the decline was wiped out to 25 to 26 points. The unfavorable weekly weather and crop conditions checked the forward movement and encouraged moderate buying. Toward noon the market stood at a decline of 13 to 14 points.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS

Logan & Bryan: We would follow the long side on all easy periods.

S. B. Chapin & Co.: Purchases of the late summer and early fall months on short fresh breaks still seem more advisable than in pressing the short side.

Harris, Stone & Co.: After a break of about 300 points recovery would be quite natural, regardless of the future course of the market.

STOCKS

Baltimore and Ohio, Steel, Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley and Reading Weak

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 5.—Moderate trading marked the early dealings on the stock exchange today, the undertone showing irregular tendencies. There were gains of 1 to 2 points in war specialties, notably Westinghouse, Presidents Steel, American Locomotive and Crucible Steel, but some of the standard issues, including Reading, Canadian Pacific and Southern Pacific, were fractionally lower. Later the list developed strength. United States Steel, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper rising a point each, with gains of as much in the motor group. London's prices for Americans showed little change, except in Canadian Pacific and Reading, which reflected heaviness.

Reading's weakness became pronounced in the early afternoon and provoked further selling on the general list. Bethlehem Steel yielded half of a previous 9 point gain.

Bonds were irregular.

ADMIRAL DOYLE HAS RETIRED FROM SERVICE

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Read Admiral Robert M. Doyle, who has just been relieved of command of the Pacific reserve fleet, retired today from active service under the statutory age of sixty-two years. He was born in Tennessee and was appointed to the naval academy from that state in 1870.

Admiral Doyle's retirement makes possible the promotion to a rear admiral's vacancy of Captain A. G. Winterhalter, senior captain and aid for material to Secretary Daniels. Captain Winterhalter, who is recognized as an authority on all problems of naval construction, will undoubtedly be given sea duty, but his assignment has not yet been announced.

ADMIRAL DOYLE HAS RETIRED FROM SERVICE

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Read Admiral Robert M. Doyle, who has just been relieved of command of the Pacific reserve fleet, retired today from active service under the statutory age of sixty-two years. He was born in Tennessee and was appointed to the naval academy from that state in 1870.

Admiral Doyle's retirement makes possible the promotion to a rear admiral's vacancy of Captain A. G. Winterhalter, senior captain and aid for material to Secretary Daniels. Captain Winterhalter, who is recognized as an authority on all problems of naval construction, will undoubtedly be given sea duty, but his assignment has not yet been announced.

GRAIN

Wheat Is 1-4c Off to 1-8c Up, Corn, Oats, Pork, Lard and Sides Steady

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 5.—Bearish wheat crop reports today quickly overcame an advance due to firmness at Liverpool. After opening ¼ off to ¼ up, prices scored moderate gains then fell back to last night's level.

Figures indicating that this year the winter wheat harvest in the United States would be 4,500,000 acres larger at harvest than in 1914 gave wheat a further setback. The close was steady but 1c to 1¼c net lower.

Corn swayed with wheat. The opening, a shade off to ¼ advance, was followed by considerable general upturns and then a reaction.

Better weather in Argentina counted somewhat against corn bulls. Corn closed steady at ½c to ¾c net decline.

Oats generally were stationary.

Hog strength was reflected in provisions.

WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Weather in the south during the past week was unfavorable for cotton except in the central states of the belt according to the National Weekly Crop Bulletin issued today.

Continued wet and cloudy weather in Texas and Oklahoma still further delayed planting and much replanting will be necessary over the more eastern districts growth is hindering growth and delaying germination of the later planted," the bulletin said.

In the central states of the belt more favorable weather prevailed and the crop is mainly satisfactory. Although in portions of these districts dry weather has caused unsatisfactory progress.

The Blue Jay

The blue jay enjoys the opprobrium of being a murderer and a thief, a very villainous fellow indeed, but one has to look at the matter as Jay, whose life is sought in order to put a stop to his villainies. Then the jay looks a handsome looking fellow, a fine dresser and handsome withal, and only one good trait is attributed to him. He has the habit of burying nuts, so many a wayside tree has been planted by jays and shrubs," thanks to this industrious propensity on his part.—Mrs. Alex Caldwell, in Southern Woman's Magazine.

Thin Folks Get Fat On Three Meals A Day

Specialist Explains Why Food Does Not Always Produce Flesh and How Thin People Can Increase Weight.

Most people who are thin and under normal weight eat heartily but get no increase in flesh, while plump, chunky folks of normal weight eat less than they do and keep stout all the time. The underweight must finally decide Nature intended them to be thin, that the amount or nature of their food has nothing to do with flesh-making and that nothing can make them fat. But this is not so.

A stout, strong, robust body can come alone from food nourishment. Food is the source of all fat and if you are thin and underweight it is merely a certain indication that only a small portion of the flesh-making nourishment in your meals is reaching your blood and tissues. The assimilative functions of your stomach and intestines are not working properly and the larger part of the food value is leaving your body as waste.

To correct such a condition, to gain flesh, increase weight and get 100 per cent value from your food, a single Sargol tablet taken at each meal will work wonders. Sargol is a scientific combination of six splendid assimilative agents. It promptly stops the leakage of fats and while aiding digestion, also separates every last particle of the fats, oils, sugars and starches of your food from the waste matter and prepares the former into rich, ripe, flesh-producing nourishment which the blood readily absorbs and distributes throughout the body. Weight increase usually begins within a very few days after Sargol is used with meals. In my opinion two ordinary hearty meals eaten with Sargol is equal in flesh-making value to six ordinary hearty meals eaten without. Try it, you people who are thin, run down and underweight, and see if I'm not right.

You can buy Sargol from Jacobs' Pharmacy or practically any druggist, berealouts and every package contains a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back. While also valuable as a treatment for nervous indigestion, it should not be used by people who do not wish to increase weight.—(Advt.)

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bridgeton, N.J.—"I want to thank you a thousand times for the wonderful good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered very much from a female trouble. I had bearing down pains, was irregular and at times could hardly walk across the room. I was unable to do my housework or attend to my baby I was so weak. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me a world of good, and now I am strong and healthy, can do my work and tend my baby. I advise all suffering women to take it and get well as I did."—Mrs. FANNIE COOPER, R.F.D., Bridgeton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Rheumatism? Here Are Some Real Facts

How to Overcome the Torture Without Harmful Drugs.

A legion of people have used S. S. S. and have overcome the worst forms of rheumatism.

This disease of the blood is little understood because of its strange symptoms, scarcely two people having it exactly alike. And yet, no matter what its form or how painful and distressing, S. S. S. seems to have almost a divine influence in driving it out, relieving the nerves from pain and clearing the joints and muscles so they work without restraint. The best explanation for this happy result is the fact that in S. S. S. are certain ingredients which act as an antidote. They are nature's providence to man.

Just as the meats, fats, salts and sugars of our daily food provide us with nourishment, so does S. S. S. give to the blood the exact medicinal requirement to clear the stream, drive out impurities and reconstruct the body if destructive germs have gained a foothold. Go to any drug store today and get a bottle of S. S. S. It will do you good. But be sure to refuse any and all substitutes. And if yours is a stubborn case, write to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 109 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. This department is presided over by a physician proud of his name by virtue of his distinguished family and a foremost doctor on his own merits.

THERE are good partnerships, good business chances, good opportunities to secure capital if The Journal Want Columns are used to advantage.
